'Bronze John': 50 Years Ago

During the recent Sugar Bowl fiesta in New Orleans the veteran columnist Hermann Deutsch produced a column which was all but lost in the football pile-up.

When New Year's Day dawned the city of New Orleans had attained its golden anniversary of freedom from yellow fever. It was the first and only half century in the history of the great city in which no "Yellow Jack" epidemic was experienced.

Time moves swiftly with us. It is almost inconceivable that not until the 20th century was well begun did New Orleans and many other coastal cities of the United States, including some in Georgia, have the great burden of fear lifted from them. At a time when the Salk vaccine promises to free us from the fearful dread of infantile paralysis, significant advances also are being made in solving the secret of the killing diseases of cancer and its associated forms of blood-cell breakdowns. Recalling "Bronze John" gives us a measure of how fast we are progressing.

Dr. Matas

Deutsch did his column on inspiration of a Christmas card from Dr. Rudolph Matas. Now approaching his 96th birthday, this distinguished, retired physician of New Orleans had survived an attack of the fever in his early teens and was immune. In 1877 he went along to Havana with a federal commission named to study the mysterious diseases, then popularly supposed, by laymen and some doctors, to be carried in the fogs and mists of tropical and semi-tropical summer nights. Matas, a medical student, was 17. He spoke, and wrote, French, Spanish and English.

In 1882, just three years out of medical school, he was called to Brownsville, Texas, to work in an epidemic. One of his patients was a young army medical captain, William C. Gorgas. It was Gorgas, as surgeon-general of the Army, who made possible completion of the Panama Canal by destroying mosquito breeding grounds in the zone.

That same year young Dr. Matas translated into English a paper by Dr. Carlos Finley of Havana, who suggested it was the common cistern mosquito alone that spread the dread disease which annually killed thousands in all areas where the mosquitoes bred.

Record

The record in New Orleans will illustrate it. From 1794 to 1803 epidemics were annual. From 1803 to 1860 there were 48 epidemic years. In the summer of 1853, when New Orleans had a population of but little more than 100,000, almost 8,000 residents died of this one disease alone.

As late as 1905 health authorities of New Orleans sluiced thousands of gallons of carbolic acid about the city's streets and gutters each week during the summer. Even in 1918 there was opposition to digging a canal to the city because many laymen still believed some of the early medical opinions—once being that disturbance of original soil released germs causing the fever to spread.

A few years ago I went to Orangeburg, S.C., to talk with J. L. Hanberry, hero of Walter Reed's great experiment, inspired by Havana's Dr. Finley. Hanberry was a soldier in Havana, Cuba. He is the only one living of those who volunteered their lives in the test. Hanberry was one who agreed to both experiments. He went into one of the dreadful rooms where men had died of yellow fever. He put on a dead man's clothing. He slept in the filthy bed. He did not sicken. He then allowed himself to be thoroughly bitten by mosquitoes which had fed on dying victims. Hanberry almost died but recovered. Last of the volunteer heroes, he lives in retirement. Until recently he was a ballist. He visits the courthouse now and then, but mostly remains at home.

It's a pity he and Dr. Matas can't meet.

Digest Puts Fulton Tax Estimate Up

Schools Fear Loss From Exemptions

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

The Fulton County government can expect a slight increase in tax revenue this year, but county schools apparently will get less tax money from real estate, according to incomplete figures released Thursday by the Joint Board of Tax Assessors.

The assessors furnished the figures after the county commissioners declared Wednesday they could not and would not adopt a budget without having the 1956 digest total under the reappraisal program which became effective this year.

BEFORE DEDUCTIONS

A letter signed by Sam Callaway, board secretary, said the assessors estimate the county's digest, using 50 per cent of valuation as a basis for county taxes, will amount to $394,274.79 before deduction of homestead exemptions.

The county commissioners appeared satisfied the digest will bring in sufficient revenue to meet the expenses, and indicated they will go ahead with approval of the county's $16,315,360 budget.

Comptroller John Still said that on the basis of the assessor's figures, the county could expect to receive about $15,559,992 in total revenue. This would mean the county would use about $755,360 in cash surplus against the new year's operation.

CONFIRMS FEARS

Meanwhile, a Fulton County school official who declined use of his name said the digest figures confirmed fears of school officials that the new digest would furnish less revenue than the county schools received in 1955.

He said the figures show the county school tax digest will total $53,233,249, using a basis of 50 per cent of the gross real estate valuation. Assessors said this amount may increase 5 per cent.

The school official pointed out, however, that almost half the $53,233,249 would not be taxable because of homestead exemptions. He said the exemptions totaled about $23,000,000 in 1955. He added that school officials expect homestead exemptions to increase considerably.

LESS REVENUE, SAME LEVY

Therefore, the official said, "We are still of the opinion that the school tax digest for 1956 will produce less revenue than it did during 1955 on the same tax levy."

School officials have given the prospect of a lower digest as one of the reasons they seek to have the ceiling on the county school tax raised to 25 mills by a Jan. 20 referendum.

Tito, Nasser Hit Pacts, Support 'Nonalignment'

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Tito and Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser today jointly denounced military pacts and blocs as "suicidal and increasing world tension."

A statement agreed on by Nasser and the visiting Yugoslav leader during their Nile River trip to the Cairo Dam was released by Yugoslav Minister of State Koca Popovic during a news conference.

Tito and Nasser emphasized what they called the "policy of nonalignment" practiced by both their countries as making a vital contribution to world peace.

75 Pct. State Cash Aid to Schools Not Enough for Some, Collins Says

Dr. M. D. Collins, state school superintendent, said Thursday that a Legislative Economy Committee recommendation on state aid to local school systems would be impractical.

The committee has recommended that state financial help to any local system be held to a maximum of 75 per cent.

Dr. Collins said "some of the country counties just could not" raise their financial participation to 25 per cent.

"For example," he said, "Harris County would have to raise its school tax levy from 15 to 64 mills to meet the minimum requirement of 25 per cent."

Claude Purcell, assistant state school superintendent, pointed out

NEW REALM FOR MOVIE QUEEN

Grace Kelly To Wed Prince After Easter

By MILTON BRACKER

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—The news is that Prince Rainier 3d of Monaco has chosen his princess. She is Grace Kelly of suburban East Falls and Hollywood, Calif.

The announcement—which in a quite literal sense is going to be heard around the world—was made first at a private luncheon given by the bride-to-be's parents at the Philadelphia Country Club.

But the public announcement was something else. It was made at the glowing Kelly home on Henry avenue, in the presence of about three times as many as the two dozen persons who had shared the luncheon.

COSMOPOLITAN GROUP

Ordinarily, such journalistic details would have no part in the story. But this time they do. Because the romance between the 32-year-old ruler of a fabulous principality, and the beautiful American girl was made known in the kind of setting that only the television-tape recorder-color film-mass interview era can produce.

The heart warming thing about it was that throughout the press audience, the principals and the beaming family maintained both their patience, which was considerable, and their good humor, which was unflinching.

GENTLENESS SPREADS
In fact, the Kellys and their prospective son-in-law set such a good example that when one newsreel man started to dig his tripod into a table top, he was discouraged by what amounted to a "for shame" from a colleague. And when one still photographer and another newsreel man started to jockey for position on a precarious stairway, they were pacified utterly by the gentlest of disarming smiles from a member of the family. The disintegration of this particular incident without the raising of voices was, in the opinion of veterans of 25 years experience, uncanny.

The couple appeared in a sitting room of the Kelly home at about 4 p.m. They sat on a pale green sofa under an oil painting of a bridge over a mountain gorge. One of the books in a nearby shelf was "Union Now" by Clarence K. Streit.

Miss Kelly wore a champagne dress.

George Keeps Tax Cut Hope As Ike Rules Out Slash Now, Urges Tight Free World Ties

Asks Military Bolstering To Keep Peace

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Eisenhower asked the Democratic 84th Congress today to strengthen both the national military establishment and the free world's alliance.

In a State of the Union message routinely read by clerks to both chambers at noon he also ruled out any tax cut now, while proposing additional federal spending in several fields.

The highest necessity, he indicated, was to "sustain and fortify" the whole mutual security program, and in this as well as in domestic defense to make all sacrifices needed for a long pull ahead.

NO SUGGESTION

There was no suggestion of fresh peril in the world but only of an old peril freshly manifested—a turn in Communist tactics from "reliance on violence and the threat of violence to reliance on division, enticement and duplicity."

No tax reduction should be considered, the President declared, until and unless it could be accomplished without throwing away an expected balance in the budget during the current fiscal year ending June 30 and a planned balance in the fiscal year to come.

The President's message had been sent from Key West, Fla., where he is convalescing from a heart attack.

WIDELY FORECAST

All its main points had been widely forecast and in its whole sense it differed more in degree than in principle from the program that middle-road Democratic leaders themselves have in mind.

The Republicans were heavily

Ike's Rights Probe Called NAACP Sop

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (UP)—Southern Democrats today accused President Eisenhower of offering "appeasement" to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in his proposal for creation of a bipartisan civil rights commission.

They were joined by a Northern Democrat, Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr. of New Jersey, who said such a commission would be ineffective and just result in more delay. The President suggested in his State of the Union message creation of an investigating body to look into charges that Negroes are being deprived of the right to vote and "subjected to unwarranted economic pressures . . . in some localities."

FOUND DISTURBING

He said that such charges are "disturbing" and should be "thoroughly examined as soon as possible." He said he would later offer to Congress a program designed to "advance the efforts of the government, within the area of federal responsibility" to eliminate all types of discrimination based on color, race or religion.

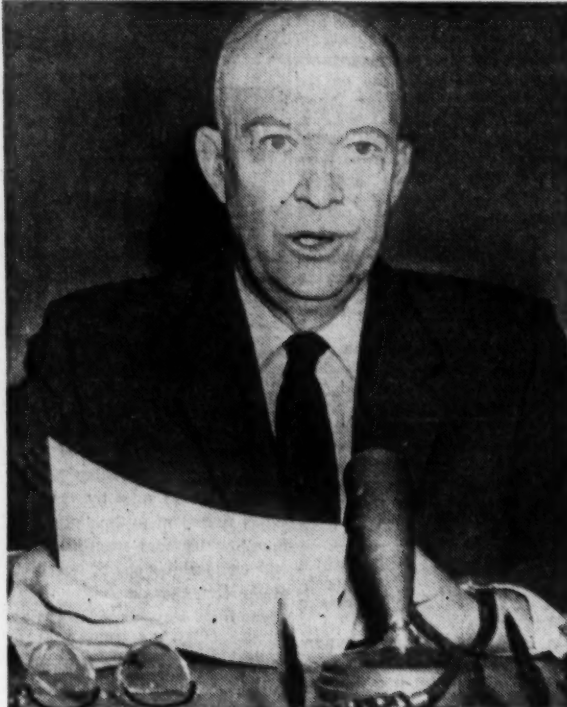

The President said he was satisfied with the "progress" made toward ending discrimination thus far and singled out the District of Columbia where "through voluntary cooperation of the people, discrimination and segregation are disappearing."

SPECIFIC CHARGES

There was no mention of the specific charges he referred to nor to the localities. However, the NAACP has charged that a "reign of terror" exists for Negroes in some parts of the South, particularly in Mississippi.

Georgia's Rep. James C. Davis said establishment of a civil rights commission would indicate "that Eisenhower has undertaken to appease that radical organization, the NAACP . . . I most certainly oppose the plan."

And Louisiana's Rep. Edwin E. Willis said such a commission "could hardly be expected to resolve an issue as controversial as civil rights."

Lanham Rips Brownell On FBI Probe in Cobb

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Atty. Gen. Brownell was taken to task severely on the floor of the House today for the FBI investigation ordered by the Department of Justice into methods of selecting jurors in Georgia's Cobb County.

Rep. Henderson Lanham of Rome, himself a former solicitor general of the Floyd Judicial Circuit scathingly denounced the attorney general for the action. He termed the Cobb County investigation "wholly unwarranted and a flagrant invasion of the right of a sovereign state to enforce its own criminal laws."

ACCUSES BROWNELL

Lanham accused Brownell, who heads the Department of Justice, of "prostituting" the FBI to political ends.

After the Rome congressman finished his attack, other Georgia members took the floor to denounce the attorney general. Rep. Paul Brown of Elberton condemned the Cobb County inquiry as an "unwarranted interference in state affairs." He said it was a reflection on "every citizen of the state."

CALLED UNBELIEVABLE

Rep. James C. Davis of Stone Mountain said it was "unbelievable" that the Department of Justice should have ordered an investigation of the kind. He said it demonstrates that "there still are some people who hate the South."

"This is an attempt by cheap politicians to pander to local minority groups in quest of votes," Judge Davis told the House. "It is another attempt to stifle and destroy state rights. I join fully in the protest made by Congressman Lanham."

Rep. Jack Flynt of Griffin, another former solicitor general, commended Lanham for bringing the Cobb County situation to the attention of the House. He denounced the Brownell action as "outrageous."

FORRESTER AGREES

In the same vein, Rep. E. L. (Tic) Forrester of Leesburg arose to say it was a "sad day for the country when a Department of Justice, guided by politics, stoops to such a disgraceful

Fair, Warmer Promised Again

It's mild winter weather again, folks, as the weatherman predicts fair and slightly warmer climatic conditions for Atlanta and vicinity Friday.

Temperatures are due to range between a high of 68 degrees and a low of 32. Saturday's anticipated low reading is 42 degrees. Thursday's extremes were 64 and 35 degrees.

No rain is in sight, the weatherman added, and nothing unusual appears on the weather map.

Russell Sees Political Tone To Message

Special to The Constitution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Sen. Russell said Thursday the President's message to Congress had "political overtones," and Sen. George said after the message that he's "still hopeful" taxes can be cut.

Sen. George was unwayed by the President's statements about budget balancing.

"I am still hopeful," he said, "that the budget will be balanced in 1956 and will justify some reductions in lower and middle income brackets. That could be attained either by lowering rates or increasing exemptions."

WILL WAIT

Sen. George, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he will wait specific administration recommendations before commenting on President Eisenhower's proposal for a long-range foreign aid program.

Sen. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the message was "somewhat of a medley of New Deal platitudes and shibboleths with strong political overtones."

He said much of the message was "in generalities, including his statements on defense and farm problems."

NOT AS OPTIMISTIC

"I'm not quite as optimistic as he is as to the adequacy of our defenses," Sen. Russell added. "He left so much unsaid that Congress will have to wait until additional special messages spell out details."

Rep. Vinson of Milledgeville, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, commented that "a number of the defense matters the President referred to are not before the committee, but

Ohio Judge Threatens Defiance of Mix Order

CINCINNATI, Jan. 5 (AP)—U.S. District Judge John H. Druffel today threatened to defy a Court of Appeals directive that he act immediately to end alleged segregation in the grade schools at Hillsboro, Ohio.

He said it would take an order of the U.S. Supreme Court to make him change his mind unless the School Board desires to accept the Court of Appeals order.

So far as could be learned, there is no precedent for such a situation.

The veteran jurist expressed his defiance at a news conference after the U.S. Court of Appeals, 6th Circuit, reversed its ruling of Jan. 28, 1954, in the case. At that time, he refused to enjoin the Hillsboro Board of Education from setting up a zoning system which kept some Negro children out of a predominantly white school.

The appellate court directed Judge Druffel today to frame a decision "which will provide for the immediate admittance to school on a nonsegregated basis

Senate Foes Rip Into Ike On Farming

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (U.P.).—A farm debate flared up in the Senate today, accompanied by Democratic demands that President Eisenhower "keep the promises" he made to agriculture in 1952.

The argument began a few hours after Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message, said he will open a "stepped-up attack" on the "deep-seated problems" plaguing farmers.

SAYS DELIVERY LAGS

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) complained that Eisenhower "promised more than any other candidate" four years ago and "has delivered less." Now that another election looms, Humphrey said, the President is adopting many farm proposals that Humphrey, as a Democrat, has pushed for three years.

In today's message to Congress, the President urged that the plight of agriculture be placed "above and beyond politics."

"Too much is at stake," he said. "No group is more fundamental to our national life than our farmers."

DO-NOTHING CHARGE

Humphrey suggested that Eisenhower call in Secretary of Agriculture Benson, read to him the farm pledges Eisenhower made in 1952, and then instruct him to "carry them out or resign."

This brought Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) to his feet with a protest that the Democrats, now in control of the Senate and house, "have done nothing" about the legislation referred to by Humphrey.

Earlier, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, said it is obvious that the Eisenhower administration "has become frantic about the farm situation."

"The deep concern—which somehow did not find expression until an election year—is welcome even though it is tardy," Johnson declared.

BLASTS GRAIN IMPORTS

Sen. Langer (R-ND) also took the President to task, saying he permitted rye, oats and wheat to come in from Canada last year when the prices of these crops were declining in the United States.

Banging on his desk and shouting, Langer said Eisenhower "did nothing" to stop the grain imports despite the pleas of some senators.

He spoke after Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) got up to urge that the government's seven billion-dollar supply of surplus farm products be given away if necessary.

Chancellor's Grandson

Adenauer, 80, Hailed By Throng

BONN, Germany, Jan. 5 (U.P.).—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was 80 today—and his countrymen gave him his biggest birthday party.

Tributes and gifts by the thousands flowed in to the "grand old man" of Germany from his people and world statesmen of both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The Bonn Republic's leaders and foreign diplomats trooped to the white Chancellery on the Rhine to wish him "herzliche Glückwünsche" (heartily good wishes).

Hundreds of Germans paid their respects by standing throughout the day in raw winter chill at the entrance to the Chancellery. All mail delivered in Bonn bore a postmark of roses in his honor. Adenauer is a famous rose grower.

It was a great day for the iron-willed man who in six years has piloted West Germany from ruin to recovery and a position of honor in the free world.

There were congratulatory messages from President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden, Soviet Premier Bulganin, Sir Winston Churchill and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. From Pope Pius XII he received the Vatican's second highest award—the Order of the Golden Spur.

A book and three paintings were sent by President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Judge Rules McCarthy Out of Bounds in Probe

By JOHN H. FENTON

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Leon J. Kamin, an admitted former Communist, was acquitted on a technicality today of contempt of Congress.

Federal Judge Bailey Aldrich held that a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) had exceeded its authority in its line of investigation.

The jurist, in a lengthy opinion, said he could find no basis in law for Kamin's refusal, solely on the ground of conscience, to name Communist party associates.

LINE OF REASONING
But on the evidence of government witnesses, the committee that interrogated Kamin was authorized to investigate federal operations and not the general subject of communism, Judge Aldrich found.

"It follows that the defendant must be acquitted," he ruled.

Kamin was tried on an indictment covering six counts of refusal to answer questions before the McCarthy committee here Jan. 14-15, 1954. At the time, Kamin was a research assistant at Harvard University.

The subsequent contempt trial consumed seven court days over a period of several weeks. Judge Aldrich previously had thrown out four of the six counts as being not pertinent to the committee's inquiry.

BEYOND SCOPE
The court agreed, said Judge Aldrich in his summary, "that the presence of Communists in defense plants could be a matter of legitimate congressional concern."

But the investigation "ought to be carried out by this committee was beyond the scope of its granted authority," he added.

Winds Fan 100 Fires In Forests

Twenty-mile-an-hour winds plus extreme dryness over most of the state was blamed Thursday for wide-spread forest fire damage.

High winds helped spread many of the more than 100 forest fires, some of which were not brought under control until Wednesday midnight or early Thursday. An estimated 1,000 to 1,200 forestry workers, firemen and volunteers fought the blazes.

The crash of a B57 jet plane from Robins Air Force Base started a woods fire in Houston County that burned over 212 acres. The plane crashed shortly after noon Wednesday during a test flight. Capt. Claude P. Phipps and navigator 2d Lt. James L. Flynn suffered only minor injuries after bailing out.

Employees of the Armstrong Cork Co. and the Macon Kraft plant fought the blaze for 12 hours before bringing it under control about midnight. A brush fire burned over 16 acres near Wesleyan College, threatening the home of President B. Joseph Martin and a ceramics building across the highway from the main campus. The State Forestry Commission reported fires in all but the Camilla district, where rain prevented development of woods fires.

Jackson Kiwanis

Richard Watkins Jr., newly installed president of the Jackson Kiwanis Club, announced this week that the club will support the drive to bring new industry to the county, work for enactment of zoning regulations in the city, and begin a drive for fluoridation of the Jackson water supply.

Action to halt the trend of lower farm prices was urged by former Gov. Talmadge Thursday in a speech at the Georgia Livestock Assn. meeting at Waycross. The Southwest Georgia Ministers' conference will be held at Norman College Monday, with Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist Church in Atlanta, the Rev. Raymond C. Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Thomaston, and L. E. Bowen, Tifton banker, as featured speakers. An ordinance passed this week by the Lawrenceville Council has banned the sale of bay rum, rubbing alcohol, and beef-iron-and-wine tonic except by licensed druggists. Army Engineers announced Thursday the award of a $53,235 contract to Ballenger Paving Co., Greenville, S.C., for relocating a part of Georgia Highway 115 in preparation for the Buford reservoir.

Legion Conference

Representatives of 20 American Legion posts in the Sixth District of the American Legion will gather in Sandersville Sunday for the midwinter district conference. George Osborne of the American Legion, Department of Georgia, Marietta, will speak. Dr. Mack Stokes, professor at Emory University Candler School of Theology, will be main speaker at the Savannah Methodist District Conference at Waynesboro Tuesday. The new $1 million, 1,902-foot Altamaha Bridge was dedicated Tuesday near Jessup. Guy L. Parmenter will retire as superintendent of the Goodyear Clearwater Mill No. 3 at Atco (Barrow County), effective Feb. 1. Nearly 1,000 student musicians from about 70 Georgia high schools will gather in Athens Saturday for the annual State High School Music Festival to be held on the University of Georgia campus.

Thief Gets Cold-Footed But It Pays Him $500

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 5 (AP)—Wilbur Brown reported $500 stolen today. Brown said he put the money in a sock and put the sock in his refrigerator, where the thief found it.

British Paper Blisters Eden as a Flop, Home and Abroad

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.) LONDON, Jan. 5—Criticism of Prime Minister Eden's administration for fumbling domestic and foreign affairs reached a new high in the British press today. The independent pro-Labor tabloid Daily Mirror, with a sale of about 4½ million copies, carried a banner headline "Eden Is A Flop." Under a photograph of the prime minister it carried the words "dithering," "timidity," "delay," "indecision," "mistakes" and "half measures." Each, it pointed out, had been extracted from articles in the pro-government press that censured the government's stewardship. Meanwhile, in the face of widespread public concern over reports of surplus arms sales abroad, the government disclosed that it would hold a debate on the issue Jan. 24 when Parliament is due to reassemble after the Christmas recess.

The "bricks" dropped by the government recently include reversion, under pressure, of the ban on heroin manufacture, tank "leakages" to the Mideast, failure to persuade Jordan to join the Baghdad pact and inequities in the October budget.

Ike's Message Was Generally 'Routine'

President Eisenhower's State of the Union message to the Congress, a chore required by the Constitution, was forthright and courageous.

Therefore, it will please few. One suspects the President overrode his more political-minded advisers in some of its paragraphs.

He promised no relief from taxes. Instead he rebuked the more insistent by saying: "We can never justify going further into debt to give ourselves a tax cut at the expense of our children."

That's true enough. But it isn't too palatable politically.

To be consistent he urged that all excise taxes and special corporation rates, scheduled to "die" in April be continued for another year.

Nor did the President appease the various ramifications of pro-segregation Citizens' Councils which have been springing up in the South. While he did not use the word "South," he urged a full probe of alleged violations of civil rights. "It is disturbing," he said, "that in some localities allegations persist that Negro citizens are being deprived of their right to vote and are likewise being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures. . . . I recommend that the substance of these charges be thoroughly examined . . ."

His farm recommendation was nothing new, though it was so presented. It was the old "soil bank" plan advanced many years ago by Henry Wallace. Under it the government would pay farmers for keeping land idle and carrying out soil-building practices on it. It will not work unless there is some tie-in with direct production controls.

Farmers have learned that with increased use of fertilizers and by planting tested seed, especially hybrids, they can plant much closer and produce greater amounts on much less land. This applies both to row and field crops. The President's farm proposal is not adequate. Nor is it workable in its present form. It seemed to be an almost desperate attempt to halt increasing criticism from the farm belt.

A new highway program was requested. Some such measure is sure to pass. The President also asked for semi-socialistic federal insurance plans to cope with drought, storm and flood disasters. He ventured, too, into the field of medical costs, asking for federal reinsurance or voluntary health policies to "cushion the heavy and rising cost of illness and hospitalization."

Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, increased postal rates and revision of the immigration laws were other requests. He lifted a grim warning about the increased strength of Russia and Red China.

In general it was a routine address—save for the forthright stands in the controversial fields of taxes and civil rights. There will almost certainly be important reverberations to the latter. Civil rights legislation was sure to be proposed in the wake of the Mississippi cases, anyhow. With the President recommending thorough investigation in this field, there will be a determined drive. That it will bring on an old-fashioned, angry Southern filibuster is equally as sure. Its effect on the Democratic Party's fall campaign cannot now be predicted, but the prognosis is not too good.

The President gave no clue to his own plans.

Not even a Sherlock Holmes could find any evidence of political intent for 1956.

This may bring on a move by the Knowland faction in the GOP.

The potential aftereffects of the State of the Union message are more important than anything the President said.

Israeli Cabinet Officer Is Distinguished Visitor

Atlanta was host for a brief time Thursday to a really great woman—Golda Myerson, cabinet officer of the Israeli government and that nation's first ambassador to Russia.

She went as a young girl to what was then Palestine. Her parents had brought her to America when she was about 3 years old. They came as refugees from Russian persecution. She became a school teacher in Milwaukee, where the family settled. But the pull was on her to help build a homeland for the Jews of Europe who lived under persecution.

She entered a farm community in Palestine. Conditions were primitive. She did a man's work in the fields. She taught school. She did every job needed. Because of her intelligence she became a leader. When the nation of Israel was proclaimed she was one of its bulwarks.

When in Russia as ambassador she was a disturbing influence. The Communists were upset because the Jews of that nation sought her out and revealed their own desire to escape communism. She openly was insulted by the Soviet's "hatchet man," Ilya Ehrenburg.

As minister of labor, Golda Myerson has made a great and continuing contribution of her country. It is too bad Atlanta did not have a real opportunity to have her appear before its civic clubs and other organizations interested in world affairs. She is a great person.

Mitchell Is Fine Choice For Federal Reserve

Walter M. Mitchell, of Atlanta, has been appointed chairman of the Board of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank for 1956.

Mr. Mitchell, a native of Tifton and a product of Georgia public schools, the Georgia Military College and Georgia Tech, has his own solid record of civic and business achievement. He is Southeastern representative of the Draper Corporation, perhaps the world's largest manufacturer of textile looms.

But currently, at least, he is best known as the father of Wade Mitchell, the splendid quarterback of Georgia Tech's Sugar Bowl champions and the young man who scored the lone touchdown which gave Tech the 7-0 victory over Pittsburgh on Jan. 2.

Mr. Mitchell himself is an old Tech player and is president of the Georgia Tech Foundation. He is a splendid choice and we congratulate him and the Federal Reserve System.

What Is So Rare As A Prince With a Job?

Miss Grace Kelly of Philadelphia, Hollywood and New York, is to become the Princess of Monaco.

Her engagement to Prince Rainier III was announced yesterday in both Monte Carlo and Philadelphia.

Miss Kelly is unlike the usual star of stage and screen. She can act. Her education and breeding are obvious. She is a natural beauty.

Prince Rainier is unlike the run of the mill princes that usually marry Americans. He is employed. And probably has a nice income on the side. When it comes to that, the Kellys aren't asking anybody for handouts either.

This looks like the romance of the decade. A genuine beauty marrying a genuine prince. No Cinderella angle to it, and no bookies taking bets on how long it will last.

Here's wishing the handsome couple luck, happiness and plenty of heirs to insure the continuing independence of Monaco.

Chemical Industry Is Booming in the South

The chemical industry is marching South to the tune of $2,000,000 in new construction daily, according to a recent announcement by the Georgia Department of Commerce.

And the march is not the moving of old plants but the establishment of new ones to take advantage of the human and material resources available in the region.

Finishing touches are now being put on $355,000,000 worth of new plants, the announcement says. Another $225,000,000 worth is in the drawing board stage.

It is predicted there will be 300 additional chemical plants, employing an estimated 10,000 new chemists and chemical engineers, in Dixie within a decade.

Georgia, of course, is sharing in the growth. Recently the American Cyanamid Co. dedicated a new $15,000,000 plant in Savannah. Rayonier, Inc., is doubling its plant at Jesup at a cost of $25,000,000. In both of these the development of the port at Savannah played an important part.

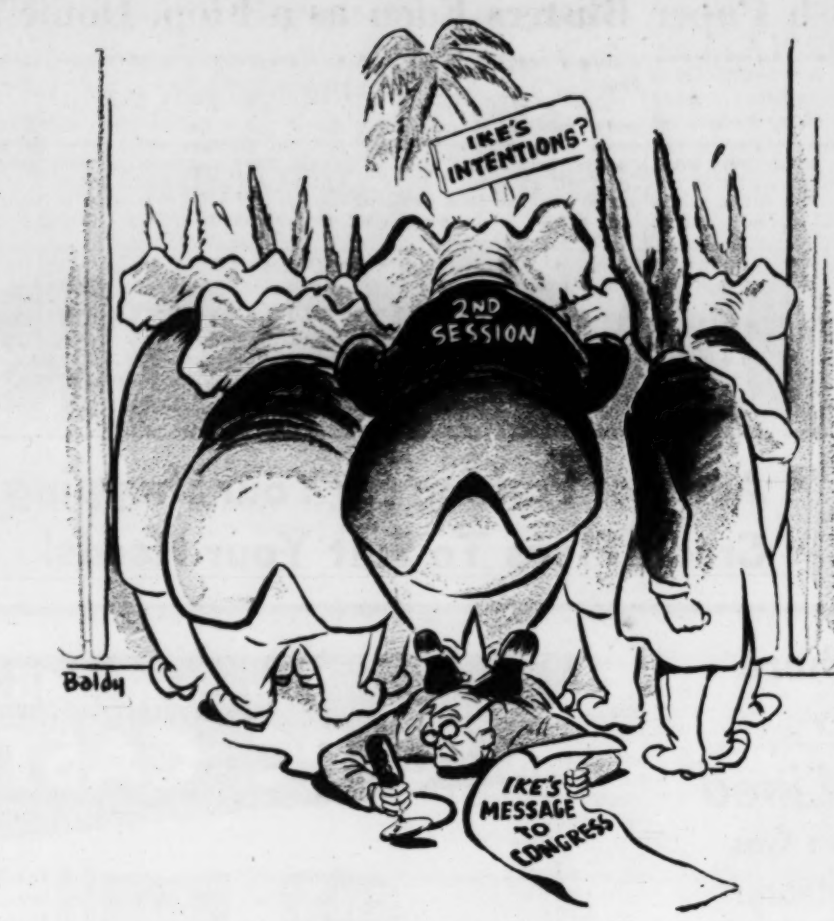

Development of the chemical industry, including the making of pulp and paper products, has opened up a vast new field of opportunity for Southern industrial development, a field whose potential is almost unlimited.

Probation is a tool whose worth is more widely appreciated with each passing year. Grappling with the problem of what to do with the lawbreaker, society has turned to the concept of probation with increasing effectiveness.

The wisdom of permitting essentially trustworthy men to avoid the privations and stigma of a prison term by letting them live and work under supervision in a normal setting is reflected in statistics that mirror probation's success.

But probation is only as good as the men who administer it and those men must have all the encouragement and protection an up-to-date system can provide.

Fulton County Citizens Urged To Approve Measure To Increase School Tax Ceiling

Atlanta—I have been reading recent articles in The Constitution about the proposed hike in the tax ceiling to meet a possible emergency in the Fulton County school system.

Even though I know a tax increase at any time is unpopular and raises indignant howls from the naysayers, I would like to urge all parents and civic-minded individuals to approve this measure. There is no reason why, in a boom period such as this, we shouldn't share our material prosperity with our children's futures. There is, in fact, every reason that we should.

One Christian Election Pierces Iron Curtain

Decatur—One of the most interesting events of 1955 was a religious assembly and election behind the Iron Curtain.

About 137 Christian Armenian delegates from all over the world assembled in Russian Armenia, at the foot of Mt. Ararat in the Christian cathedral there.

This happened before the very eyes of the so-called atheist Russian leaders.

Does Country Have Too Many Farmers?

Atlanta—The farmer from Ashburn did not say so, but his letter implied that the nation's voters would vote against price-supports for farmers if given the chance.

Calling me a Republican for suggesting the idea causes no blush of shame, either. After all, my first loyalty is to America and not a political party. I will vote for any man who will try to get this nation out of debt and stop senseless spending. Price-supports come under both headings and if Adlai Stevenson will promise to eliminate price-supports I'll vote for him—and cheer.

Let's face it. There are too many farmers. The mounting surpluses prove it. They keep screaming that industry gets higher wages, so why don't some of them quit farming and get a job in industry?

WALTER J. SHAFFER.

Ado About Segregation Called Inappropriate

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The ado about segregation created by the Association for the Advancement of Science was unwarranted.

It is wrong for the nation to compel a state to abolish segregation. There is imbued in the affairs and happiness of a state certain customs which should be respected.

Minister's Committee On Integration Asked

Atlanta—As a meek and humble citizen, I would like to suggest that Mayor Hartsfield appoint a committee of seven white ministers and five Negro ministers to make recommendations on new problems arising out of integration.

These findings should be secret and available monthly to the chief administrative officer of Atlanta.

Editorial on Schools Wins Vote of Thanks

Atlanta—Thank you very much for your splendid editorial Dec. 26, 1955, in favor of the referendum involving increased local support of our schools which citizens of the Fulton County school district are being asked to vote on Jan. 20, 1956. This editorial, with its clear statement of our problem and its timely publication, will be a big factor in helping us secure a vote from our citizens to continue to provide a first-rate school system for our children.

Hog Hits Low Along Wabash

The Belted Hampshire hog is a handsome animal of which you see many in the Hoosier farmlands where I spent a bit of the Christmas holidays.

But when you say "hog" up along the Wabash these days, you'd better smile. The word is in low favor, swinish. The farmer trucks his Hampshire or Duroc or Chester Whites to market—in Indianapolis or Danville, Ill., or Chicago. When he gets there, he is lucky if he can unload them. The market is likely to be glutted. If he does unload them, it is at $10 a hundred as compared to the $20 or more he has been accustomed to.

"We're in the squeeze," a farmer friend told me. "Low prices for farm products, high prices for the machinery we must buy. The farmer is caught between."

I said it was no different in Georgia. That didn't seem to help him much.

I told him the story of the fellow who bought a hog for $10, fed him all summer and sold him for $10 in the fall. When the man complained, a neighbor observed, "It's true you didn't make any money, but look how long you had the use of the hog."

My farmer friend didn't laugh. Unless the squeeze is off come election time, he won't be laughing then. He very possibly may not vote as he did in 1952.

STEAM ENGINE FRIEND: I am concerned about my friend Emory Milton Ivie. Mr. Ivie has not been in to see me yet this year. He's the retired railroad worker who is willing to "bust a biler" to see that the City of Atlanta acquires a steam locomotive as a park exhibit.

Other cities are doing it. Milwaukee, for example, has a special "Iron Horse" committee with the city purchasing agent as secretary. The committee seeks to raise $25,000 to move to the park a steam engine which has been offered by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul line as a memorial.

When they do move it, they'll use trolley tracks part way, with compressed air as motive power. From the trolley line to the place in the park, they'll haul the engine either over temporary tracks or on underslung truck trailers.

HIGHLINE: Growing up is when a teenager becomes willing to stop telling the theater manager he is 12 so he can convince the drivers' license bureau he is 16. —Raymond Duncan in The Ellaville Sun.

False Values Offer No Lasting Security

Again and again in the Old Testament the prophets of the one true God condemned with scorching words the men who worshipped false gods. False gods were those fashioned and created by the hands of man. The idols possessed no divinity and although some men worshipped before them they without life and power.

Why do men create gods of iron and stone when they may worship the supreme King of Kings? Why accept a shabby substitute when there is a true God? I suppose it is because the requirements of true religion are severe and exacting. So a man not wishing to meet such exalted obligations creates a god to fit his purposes, a strange little god who demands nothing more than the man wants to offer.

Man-made gods are impotent and artificial. They may give a person some small measure of comfort, but they offer no lasting security. They may fulfill a man's need for worship but they can never respond and bless.

Isaiah had a great deal to say about those who "worship the work of their own hands" (Isaiah 2:8). At one time he used ridicule and biting satire against idolatry. He described a man who planted a cedar tree and then watched it grow. Finally when the tree's maturity was reached the man went out and chopped it down. A portion of the wood was used for fuel and another portion for the fire on which he baked his bread.

Another portion of the wood was made into an idol. Out of the residue of the wood he made a god which he worshipped!

Here are Isaiah's words: "Half of it he burns in the fire; over the half he eats flesh, he roasts meat and is satisfied; also he warms himself and says, 'Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire!' And the rest of it he makes into an idol, falls down and worships it; he prays to it and says, 'Deliver me, for thou art my god!' " (Isaiah 44:16-17, RSV).

Actually Isaiah says that such a man worships a block of wood which in another moment may be no more than ashes.

What a powerful word-picture of the stupidity of idol worship. We don't do those things today, of course. We don't make little wooden figures and set them in our homes as our gods. Yet it is not true that what a man worships is what means most in his life. And don't we make false gods out of modern idol worship may be more subtle than ancient idolatry but it is no less false. The danger of idolatry lingers with us still. God commanded that we should have no other gods before Him (Exodus 20:3). "If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods from among you and prepare your hearts unto the Lord and serve Him only" (1 Samuel 7:3).

Security Probe Is Under Way at Last

WASHINGTON—Open letter to the Commission on Government Security: Congress has entrusted to you a grave and urgent responsibility: to take a calm, careful, constructive and fearless look at the employee security program and to come up with proposals to make it better for everybody.

This kind of study undertaken for the most part by detached and qualified people, as many outside the government as within who have no special incentive to make the past look bad or the present look good, is woefully late.

It is woefully late because the White House was persuaded that the study was unnecessary and might well be politically embarrassing. It dragged its feet and did nothing.

Whereupon the Democratic majority in Congress took the initiative and ultimately with the decisive support of both parties your commission was brought into being.

It isn't your fault that you are beginning an investigation at a time when you ought to be ending it.

You will soon acquire a fuller grasp of this operation than any Washington correspondent can possibly have. I certainly take no dogmatic attitude toward what you are going to find or may possibly recommend. But I do take the liberty of mentioning several aspects of the operation of the security program which at times have seemed to me to have been neglected:

1—Security is positive as well as negative. Security is something which the nation must achieve; security isn't just freedom from insecurity. This means that to security program must be directed to the vital end of keeping and recruiting the most qualified people

Thomas L. Stokes

Congress Is Voice Of All the People

WASHINGTON—It is always good to see Congress come back to work—and it seems in order to celebrate that event here.

Back here it again becomes an organized body. It is appropriate to think of it every now and then as a collection of individuals who come here from every part of our vast nation and represent all sorts of regions geographically and all sorts of viewpoints politically.

Thus it represents all of us, the best and the worst in us. Again as down through our history we pray that Congress will arrive at the best possible solutions that are worthy of our traditions.

We often take our democratic institutions for granted. But it is well to remember that they are the result of a long and historic struggle. There is no better time to recall this than when our democracy refreshes itself now when our representatives return here from contact with our people.

While we know there will be much controversy and many angry disputes as the issues develop in this session, this is surely a time for achievement based on calm appraisal of our situation here at home and our responsibility in the world. The health of our democracy requires positive achievement on both home and world fronts.

How we live up to our leadership of the free peoples and those who are yearning to be free in all the earth will be put to a practical test in whether Congress does all it reasonably can by way of economic assistance to help strengthen underdeveloped nations.

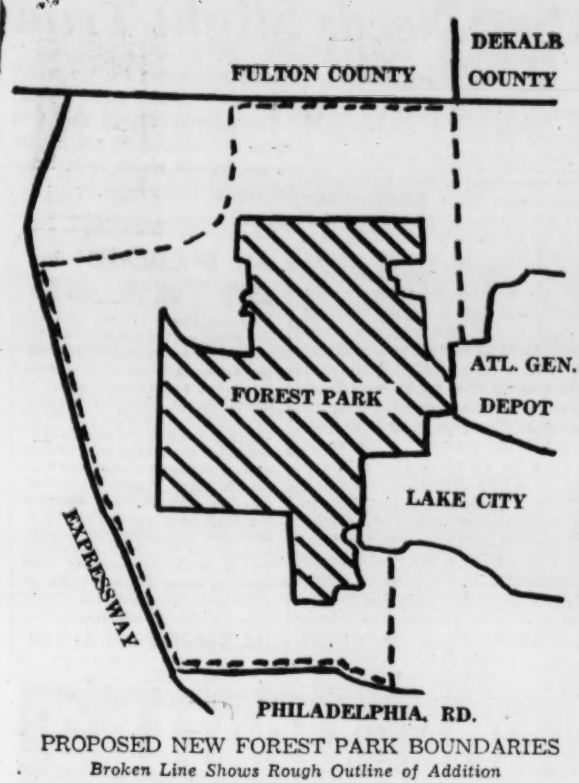

Here at home there are defects which it is high time we do something to repair, especially since we are in a period of financial affluence. Our democracy is grounded in education. Yet we have let our educational plant almost run down. It is good that Speaker Rayburn put a school construction bill at the top of major legislative measures in the House program.

But we have fallen behind in other areas—in meeting the health needs of our people; in social security which still is inadequate; in minimum wage standards from whose protection millions still are excluded; in the economic condition affecting blighted coal mining and textile areas, where unemployment that has continued for many months offers a dark contrast to the prosperity that abounds elsewhere for so many of our people.

This prosperity has created a sort of apathy that needs to be shaken. For now is the time, when conditions generally are good, for us to look carefully into our whole economy and correct its inadequacies.

For all of this we need self-examination and self-criticism which has been too long withheld. We look to Congress to fulfill its function in our democracy as high critic of the state of our Union.

Forest Park Expansion May Call Referendum

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The Clayton County delegation will propose a referendum on a major expansion of the Forest Park city limits in the coming session of the General Assembly, members said Thursday.

Reps. E. Alvin Foster of Forest Park and Edgar Blalock of Jonesboro said they had agreed on a bill which would add roughly one-third more population and considerable new territory to Forest Park.

Requirement for approval of voters in the affected areas will be incorporated in the bill, both men explained. "I assure the people of Clayton County there will be a vote on any annexation or incorporation," Foster promised.

Proposed new boundaries for Forest Park would be the Fulton County line on the north, an extension of the DeKalb County line and Lake City on the east, Philadelphia road on the south and a stretch of the expressway on the west.

The new limits would include property owned by the Central of Georgia Railroad, Foster said. He added that the company was anxious to have city services. Foster said he thought expansion would encourage other new industry.

Another major issue will be changes in the present county commission law, Blalock said. He explained that details were not available yet but that the delegation hoped to amend the law so that voters could select the chairman of the commission.

The legislators said Mountain View had requested incorporation and that Riverdale had asked for changes in its city charter.

Trust Suit Here Names 8 Film Firms

A $1,020,000 anti-trust suit was filed in U. S. District Court here Thursday against eight motion picture firms. Two similar suits filed Wednesday seek damages totaling $3,800,000.

The three suits are the fifth, sixth and seventh such actions filed here in the past year, court officials said. None of the suits has been decided.

$1,020,000 ASKED

Defendants in the $1,020,000 suit, filed by the Lee Theater Co. of Fairmont, W. Va., are listed as Loew's, Inc., Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., Paramount Film Distributing Corp., Twentieth-Century Fox Film Corp., United Artists Corp., Columbia Pictures Corp., Warner Brothers Pictures Distributing Corp. and RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc.

Plaintiff charges the defendants "conspired to monopolize the exhibition of motion pictures and maintain a nationwide system of admission prices."

SIMILAR SUITS

The suits filed Wednesday were brought by Charles A. Adams, operator of the Avon Theater in Avondale, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Carter, owners and operators of the Brookhaven Theater.

Adams seeks damages of $1,000,000 on each of three counts, and the Carters ask $400,000 on each of two counts. All of the actions are brought under the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts and cite similar grounds.

Defendants in each of the suits filed Wednesday are:

Atlanta Enterprises, Inc.; Georgia Theater Co.; Publix-Lucas Theaters, Inc.; Wilby-Kinney Service Corp.; Robert B. Wilby; Rhodes Theater Operating Co.; Evans Amusement Co.; Tenth Street Theater Co.; West End Theater Co.; East Point Theater Co.; Storey Theaters, Inc.; Evans Theater Corp.; Paramount Film Distributing Corp.; Loew's, Inc.; Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp.; Warner Bros. Pictures Distributing Corp.; RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.; United Artists Corp.; Universal Film Exchange, Inc.; and Columbia Pictures, Inc.

1,195 Missionaries

PRINCESS GRACE Movie Queen Betrothed to 'Real' Prince

colored gown of brocade wool. A silk scarf of pale beige was at her throat. There was a gold star just to the right of the scarf. It matched her shell-like earrings.

The prince was largely in blue. His white collar was pinned down. His tie was of horizontal blue and gray stripes.

Inevitably, the first question was about the wedding. When would it be? The answer was delayed by a background murmur that sounded suspiciously like "kiss her, Prince, kiss her."

Then the prince replied. "It hasn't been definitely arranged," he said. "We don't know if it will be over in America or in Monaco."

Next everyone wanted to know the effect of the marriage on Miss Kelly's movie career. Again the answer was delayed because of a somewhat urgent "stop pushing" in the background. There also was continued persuasion of the Prince to kiss his intended. At this, Mrs. Margaret Kelly, Grace's mother, interjected deftly, "now, not too familiar with the Prince."

Then the Academy Award winner replied: "I still have a contract with MGM and I have to do two more pictures and then I'm taking a leave of absence."

Pressed for details, she said she would be in New York Friday night for the Monte Carlo ball at the Waldorf-Astoria, then leave for Hollywood over the weekend. She is due to start work on a film called "High Society" on Jan. 17.

That would take about two months, she thought. So the earliest the wedding could be would be about April.

Meanwhile, the Prince said he was going to Florida.

"What, one goes West and the other South?" doubted a woman magazine writer.

"Why not?" shrugged the Prince.

Miss Kelly said she would "certainly" live in Monaco, and would study French. She will be known as Her Serene Highness, the Princess of Monaco, or as Princess Grace. Everyone knew that the question of children was coming soon, but everyone tended to leave it to someone else.

The matter is more than academic in Monaco, because if the Prince does not have an heir, the principality reverts to France.

So, finally, someone asked meekly, how many children did Miss Kelly expect to have.

The engaged girl hesitated. But her mother came expertly to her rescue.

"I should say a lot," Mrs. Kelly put in. "I'm a grandmother and I love a family."

Mountain Cook Fixes Her Vittles On Hearth—in Big Sunday Paper

Look for these stories in the big Sunday Atlanta Journal and Constitution:

OPEN HEARTH COOKING . . . The cook stove has been in use in households for a couple of centuries. But some north Georgia mountaintop folk don't think a stove is desirable. In the Jan. 8 Atlanta Journal and Constitution, Constitution staff writer Celestine Sibley has a delightful character sketch of a 64-year-old mountain woman who still does all her cooking on an open hearth.

THERAPEUTIC IMPROVEMENTS AT WARM SPRINGS . . . There are several new therapeutic improvements in operation at Warm Springs, including a new rehabilitation center equipped with special gadgets for the handicapped. Constitution staff writer Katherine Barnwell tells about it and the new children's pavilion where therapy is provided for small children.

ELECTRICAL GADGETS SPRUCE UP LEGISLATURE . . . Journal staff writer Dorothy Cremin reports on the new installations being made at the State Capitol. There are a new public address system and an automatic voting system for the House. The representatives can vote yea or nay right from their desks by just pushing a button.

$25,000 Bail In Shooting

Lloyd Lynn Hays, 48, of 69 Baker St., NW, Thursday was ordered held under $25,000 bond for the Fulton County grand jury on charges of assault with intent to murder a blind man.

Municipal Judge James Webb assessed the bond.

Dets. H. E. Burdett and Clinton Chafin said Hays was charged with wounding Samuel Lawrence Long, 43, of 235 Alexander St., NW, last Friday. Long, blind for 17 years, was listed in "poor" condition at Grady Hospital from a bullet wound in the chest and another in the arm.

Detectives said Hays' estranged wife resided at the Alexander street address, a boarding house.

State Adds Million '53 Income Tax

The State Revenue Department has collected more than $1,250,000 in delinquent income taxes for 1953, Commissioner T. V. Williams reported Thursday.

Williams said his special force on delinquent taxes now is preparing to check on 1954 federal income tax returns.

The commissioner pointed out that Georgia taxpayers this year will be filing their state income taxes under several new provisions enacted by the Legislature last summer. They include:

1. Federal income tax payments are not deductible on the state returns.
2. Personal exemptions have increased from $1,000 to $1,500; dependent exemptions increased from $500 to $600, and personal exemptions for married couples increased from $2,500 to $3,000.

His Ears Rise Earlier Than the Weatherman

By MARJORY SMITH

"MILD?" asked the early shift worker, riding the elevator down for his coffee break. "Mild? Man, when I got downtown this morning, I had to go look in a mirror to make sure my ears were still there."

"Then by the time most folks come to work, the sun shines out good and it warms up and the weatherman calls it mild. I just don't believe that fellow that keeps tab on the thermometer gets up as early as I do!"

IT'S ROUGH getting back to classes after all those holidays, sleepy-eyed students at the halls of learning around Atlanta agree.

Claire Tritt

Over on Agnes Scott's beauty-dotted campus, pretty girls like senior Claire Tritt, history major from Forest Hills, N.Y., looked fresh as daisies at Tuesday classes.

Claire, here smelling a bottle of perfume that was one of her Christmas gifts, explained, "It's part of our honor system to be back on time!"

AT THE CABARETS

Paradise Room Revue Opens; Well Balanced

A well-balanced revue which features comedy, thrills and dancing opened at the Henry Grady Paradise Room Thursday with comedian-musician Jack LaBelle headlining the show.

LaBelle is a man of many talents. He plays almost all musical instruments and he plays them well. He switches from steel guitar to trumpet, saxophone and clarinet, impersonating the musical "greats" and interspersing his music with clever stories and patter.

Featured with him are Franklin and Astrid, a father and daughter balancing team, one of the best ever seen here, and Janet Grey, a pert ballet dancer who spins herself dizzy as a human top.—P.J.

Charges Face Negro Here After Restaurant Invasion

A Negro soldier absent without leave Thursday was arrested on a series of four charges after demanding that he be served in a white restaurant, police said.

Lt. A. C. Roberts said Jesse J. Green, 23, of 147 Elm St., SW, was booked on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, assault and battery on an officer and disorderly conduct—disturbance.

The charges were made after Green pulled a knife on the restaurant operator, who had asked him to leave, Roberts said. He added Green was apprehended in front of the Grady Hospital colored clinic after he had left the restaurant at 13 Butler St., SE, and three men were required to place him under arrest.

Physicians Held Target Of Smears

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

The doctor-patient relationship has suffered a setback in recent years—but the physician is "not primarily to blame," Dr. McClaren Johnson, new president of the Fulton County Medical Society, said Thursday night.

Dr. Johnson, who spoke at the annual banquet of the medical society at the Athletic Club, said "certain forces," including some national magazines, are "doing all they can" to discredit the medical profession.

SUSPECTED BY PUBLIC

He said physicians are looked upon with suspicion by the public they seek to serve. But he said doctors today "are just as ready to work without material reward as they were in the past."

Ernest Rogers, Atlanta Journal columnist, made a humorous talk to the doctors.

Dr. Rives Chalmers, Atlanta psychiatrist, was presented the second annual Aven Citizenship Cup for his "outstanding service in community affairs." The cup was presented by Dr. C. C. Aven, who with his wife established the award.

HEALTH CHAIRMAN

Dr. Chalmers served as chairman of the health section, Metropolitan Atlanta Community Services, on the Chamber of Commerce health committee, and as a member of the board of the National Mental Health Assn.

Dr. B. L. Shackelford, retiring president of the medical society, was presented the President's Key by Dr. Jack C. Norris.

Fire Here Heavily Damages 12-Unit Apartment Building

A two-alarm fire Thursday caused extensive damage to a 12-unit brick apartment building at 878 Juniper St., NE.

W. C. Akin, occupant of apartment 7 on the second floor, said he first noticed smoke coming up from a hallway floor. Akin turned in an alarm and left the building with 18 other residents. P. H. Y. Rutherford and E. W. Mooty said most of the damage was confined to the second floor and roof. They added smoke and water damaged the first floor apartments.

Occupants whose apartments were damaged heavily were Mrs. Rosalie Smith, and Mrs. Ruth E. Baxter. Mrs. Smith and her 15-year-old daughter, Wanda, occupied a front, downstairs apartment and Mrs. Baxter lived in a second floor, front apartment.

Firemen wearing oxygen masks searched through the smoke-filled building to be sure all occupants had reached safety.

City Budget Set; Needs Slight Trim

By HERMAN HANCOCK

The aldermanic board's finance committee Thursday night completed a 1956 finance sheet and ordered Chairman Ralph Huie and Compt. Earl Landers to trim an average of $21,000 to bring allocations within the available $23,636,004 for current operations.

Citizens and department heads appeared to urge special allocations. Huie said he proposes to offer a balanced finance sheet to the Jan. 16 meeting of the aldermanic board asking that it be referred for a public hearing before final passage Feb. 6.

When the committee met, all but $135,000 already had been allocated. Before the meeting ended, however, some $171,000 had been added. Huie and Landers will review allocations and make cuts.

Most of the additions were for personnel, allowances, reclassification and equipment.

The sheet carries $500,000 for a one-step raise on salary schedules for some 4,500 non-school city workers and a 4 per cent raise for department heads.

Among extraordinary allocations are $27,000 for the Metropolitan Planning Commission; $25,000 for civil defense; $3,000 for the High Museum of Art; $2,500 for the Atlanta Convention Bureau, and $1,000 for the Uncle Remus Home.

Personnel items include three new crews and placing three part-time crews on a full-time basis for the sanitary department at a cost of $56,000 a year; added personnel for the airport costing $10,000 a year; a zoning investigator for the building department costing $3,913 a year; raising school traffic policemen from $3.15 to $3.50 a day and addition of 15 at a cost of $14,501 a year; creation of the position and an automobile allowance for a horticulturist for the parks department, $5,600 a year.

Creation of 14 positions in the public works department costing $31,826 a year, and 14 positions in the fire department to man Fire Station No. 30 under construction, costing $30,576 a year, also were voted.

Creation of two positions for the College Park library for which that municipality will pay $5,902 a year; reclassifications and automobile allowances for the water department costing $3,484 a year. The sum of $20,000 also was added for landscaping and paving to the $600,000 traffic court building, under construction.

Witnesses Refuse Reply To Senate Press-Prober

N.Y. Daily News Reporter Fired After Citing Free Speech Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Four witnesses refused today to tell senators searching for Red influences in the press and other news fields whether they had ever been Communists.

One of the witnesses, Dan Mahoney, a rewrite man on the staff of the New York Daily Mirror, said "No, sir, I am not," when asked whether he now is a Communist. However, he refused to tell whether he had ever been a Communist.

MUM ON COMMUNISM

The other three—William A. Price, a reporter for the New York Daily News; Richard O. Boyer, a free lance writer of Groton-On-Hudson, N.Y.; and Otto Albertson, a composing room employee of the New York Times—refused to say whether they now are Communists or have been in the past.

Price, in declining to answer questions, refused to invoke the Fifth Amendment's privilege against compulsory self-incrimination. He based his refusals on the First Amendment, which covers the right of free speech.

Price said it was beyond the power of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to inquire into his personal and political beliefs, as well as his associations.

ORDERED TO ANSWER

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) repeatedly "ordered and directed" Price to answer questions put to him, saying the subcommittee did not recognize his refusal to answer on the ground of the First Amendment. Eastland and counsel J. G. Sourwine told him he could refuse to answer under the Fifth Amendment, but not the first.

In New York City, the News said Price had been fired.

The newspaper published this telegram, sent to Price by Richard Clarke, executive editor of the Daily News:

"Your conduct as a witness before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in Washington, D.C., today has destroyed your usefulness to the News. Therefore your services as an employee of the News are being terminated immediately.

"Final payments which may be due you for your services, or under

they will be given prompt consideration when they arrive."

Rep. Vinson said the President "pretty much covered the waterfront."

Like Sen. Russell, Senate Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said the President's message had "political overtones."

"Most Americans know," Sen. Johnson asserted, "that the domestic situation is not as rosy as pictured and the international situation is one of deep concern."

In a statement approved by the nine-man Senate Democratic Policy Committee, Johnson also lashed at the President for referring to "fiscal integrity" in opposing the tax cuts now.

"The administration indicates it will firmly oppose tax relief to low and middle-income brackets in a year of a balanced budget," Johnson said. "But... it claims credit for $7,500,000,000 in tax cuts, mostly to large corporations and taxpayers, made in years of unbalanced budgets."

WILL NEVER BALANCE

Rep. Paul Brown of Elberton said if Congress carries through everything advocated by the President, "we will never balance the budget."

Rep. James C. Davis of Stone Mountain said the message proved the administration was "trying to out-deal the New Deal." He termed a request for a civil rights commission pandering to vocal pressure groups.

Rep. Prince Preston of Statesboro said, "The President has baited the hook with enough attractive bait to catch votes from all segments. I am amazed at the hope he expresses to achieve a balanced budget while at the same time proposing astronomical expenditures."

ASKS CONSULTATION

Rep. Jack Flynt of Griffin called for consultation with Democrats by Secretary Benson. He said he felt low-income groups could be given tax relief by substantially reducing foreign aid commitments.

Sen. Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the President's message glossed over "glaring mistakes of the administration in foreign policy."

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, who has predicted President Eisenhower will seek re-election, said that once again the President "reveals his leadership for the good of all Americans—all free men and women everywhere."

Senate Republican leader Knowland of California said the message outlined a record of performance "to which all Americans can point with pride." He predicted a congressional acceptance of a "substantial part of the recommendations" for the future.

Blonde Jumps Ship, Is Lost in Caribbean

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 5 (AP)—A beautiful 21-year-old blonde, one of 80 female members of a Swedish cruise ship's crew, was lost in the Caribbean last night.

Capt. Sune Lindgren of the ship Patricia, said the girl, Gunver Bergitta Maria Flodstrom, was seen poised on the rail, jumped and then disappeared into the propeller wake. He said the ship searched two hours but the search was hopeless.

FINDS MEN MORE RESPONSIVE — DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 5—Bea Shaw, television actress of WFAA-TV, used makeup and costume to transform herself into a graying, penniless beggar on a downtown Dallas street to determine whether men or women are more responsive to a woman beggar. In 20 minutes 11 men and two women contributed $2, which Miss Shaw gave to charity. A hidden camera shows her at "work," right. At left is the everyday Bea.

Poet Sandburg, Turning 78, Hopes Atomics Can Bar War

FLAT ROCK, N.C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Carl Sandburg will be 78 tomorrow.

And the great poet and Lincoln biographer said today he will "sit and look out at the Great Smokies and work once in a while" to mark the occasion.

Also, he has an appointment with the dentist.

Looking lively and hale, Sandburg was in his usual humorous and puckish mood, but he said, "I'm sticking pretty close these days and not taking on as heavy a schedule as I used to."

He said he spends most of his four-or-five-hour work day answering a voluminous mail.

Sandburg has cut down on his lecture schedule, but said he will appear on the Ed Sullivan show Feb. 12 with the New York Philharmonic to take part in a performance of Aaron Copeland's "A Lincoln Portrait."

He also plans another volume which will be a continuance of "Always the Young Strangers," an autobiography of the first 20 years of his life.

On the state of the world, he said, "The two terrific, outstanding facts in the minds of all thoughtful men and women today are these:

"Always in the past when two great powers have been in an armament race, eventually they have tried out their new weapons. There have been plenty of nations and tribes which have destroyed one another completely."

"But now for the first time, the nations that are in an armament race, America and Russia, are aware that each can completely destroy the other, with the probability of destroying all plant and animal life on the earth."

"That awful fact may mean there won't be a third world war. But there's no telling what hate can do. Any time two nations get their hatreds to a high enough intensity, there's hell to pay."

U.S. Giving India's Rails 100,000 Tons of Steel

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW DELHI, Jan. 5—The United States and India today signed a $10,000,000 aid agreement that will give this country 100,000 tons of badly needed steel products for its railroads.

The agreement was signed on the fourth anniversary of the U.S. program of loans and grants to India. So far the United States has made more than $250,000,000 available to India for technical assistance and economic development.

SOVIET COMPETITION

U.S. and Indian officials here do not like to talk about it in those terms, but the fact is that entry of the Soviet Union into the field of economic assistance has promoted a feeling of political competition. It used to be that U.S. aid stood out virtually alone. Now most of the agreements and negotiations are being compared by all parties to what the Soviet Union is giving or promises to give.

Today's steel agreement and the anniversary of the U.S.-Indian economic cooperation program should provide many Indians in official life with opportunities to make some comparisons. Those comparisons will do the United States no harm at all.

GIFTS FROM U.S.

Steel is a vital factor in this country's hopes for industrial expansion. There has been a great deal of publicity about the fact that India and the Soviet Union last month signed a commercial agreement under which India will get 1,000,000 tons of Soviet steel.

But every ton of that steel will be paid for by India. The Soviet Union has agreed to buy an equal value of goods from India. But the agreement is strictly business.

In contrast, with today's agreement the amount of steel given, not sold, to India by the United States comes to 700,000 tons.

He Burns, Kills Stepson, 2

BEAUFORT, S.C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Parris Island Marine corporal broke down under questioning today and admitted beating and burning his 2-year-old stepson, who died yesterday.

Cpl. Doyal Skaggs, about 26, told officers a sordid story of resentment and jealousy that resulted in the death of Robert David Shaw, son of Mrs. Skaggs by a former marriage.

The child died Wednesday in a Beaufort hospital of what a coroner's jury tonight described as "multiple injuries and burns at the hands of his stepfather."

In a statement to Beaufort County Sheriff J. E. McTeer, Skaggs said he inflicted the child's burns by holding his feet and immersing him in a tub of hot water.

Skaggs also admitted previously abusing the boy because of his wife's regard for the child.

The stepfather's statement came during questioning this morning after he and his wife were arrested in Beaufort. Mrs. Skaggs, who is expecting another child, was later released.

James Stewart Hurt; Dragged by Parachute

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 5 (AP)—Actor James Stewart suffered a painfully wrenched back when a parachute dragged him 50 yards during the filming of the movie, "Spirit of St. Louis," last night.

Stewart, who plays Charles Lindbergh, was supposed to have bailed out of a plane during a blizzard and landed in a field. A battery of wind machines hurled artificial snow and caught Stewart's parachute, which jerked him from his feet and dragged him over rough ground.

X-ray pictures were taken today to determine the extent of the back injuries.

Natural Gas Control Bill Cleared for Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Senate Democratic Policy Committee cleared the controversial natural gas bill for an early vote today despite warnings it will endanger party harmony and hurt Democratic election chances.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) announced the action after the policy committee's first session of the new Congress. He said the bill, already approved by the House, will be taken up this week or next.

The bill would exempt the nation's 4,000 natural gas producers from direct federal controls. But it would retain government authority over new producer-pipeline sales contracts and over contracts which provide for unspecified automatic price mark-ups.

Opponents, mostly northern city Democrats, have denounced the bill as a "giveaway" and a "bonanza" for big gas producing oil companies. They said it will mean higher gas prices, particularly for city dwellers.

Supporters of the measure contend it is necessary to stimulate exploration for new gas supplies.

Fadiman To Steer Quiz Kids

By VAL ADAMS
(Copyright 1955 by The New York Times Co.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Quiz Kids, which began as a radio program in 1940, will return to the air over the Columbia Broadcasting System television network Thursday from 10:30 to 11 p.m.

Clifton Fadiman, who once posed questions for the adult panel on Information Please, will be the quizmaster for the four child panelists. Ranging in age from 6 to 14, they will be picked for the show because of their unusual ability in answering difficult questions.

The Quiz Kids program ran continuously until it left the air about two years ago, was Louis G. Cowan's sole property when he opened a New York office 10 years ago. He still has an interest in Louis G. Cowan, Inc., production company, but now is a program executive for CBS.

After holding out for a long time, Bette Davis is going in for TV in a big way.

A week ago it was reported Miss Davis was planning to make a double debut in two films for television. It now is learned she will make a third for the Screen Directors Playhouse under the direction of George Zukor. The telecast will be Henry James' short story, "Lousia Pallant."

Few Horse Drawn Vehicles in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (UP).—Chicago's horsey set is on the way out. Only 72 licenses for horse-drawn vehicles were issued in 1955, the city license department said.

Write-Ins Elect Wilson to Council In North Atlanta

Leo Wilson received 171 write-ins votes Thursday to win a council seat in the North Atlanta city election. Hafi Kohler, with 18 write-ins, won the recorder's office.

Mayoralty candidate Burney Barker polled 256 of 286 votes to win.

David A. Crosby polled 243 ballots; Mrs. Ruth Grippio, 239; Judson M. Garner, 220; Floyd J. Morgan, 217, and Wilson's 171 write-ins to fill the council. Roy Goslin with 98 votes, Raymond Chatham with 65, and former Mayor Joseph Spencer with 61 votes were defeated in the race for the five council seats.

Young Pianist Cass' Talent Pleases Music Club Hearers

The promising pianistic talent of Richard Cass was unveiled Thursday night before an appreciative Atlanta Music Club salon series audience.

The young pianist displayed a confident manner, matched by technical excellence. He found his forte in two romantic works of Chopin, a "Fantasie" and the "Grand Polonaise."

Cass' treatment of Mozart, in an "Andante" and a "Sonata," seemed less a warm affection for an old master of long acquaintance than a youth's proper admiration for a monument.

But in the silvery arpeggios and crashing chords of Chopin he appeared to find emotional identity, and the piano sang with the composer's passion.

Cass gave perceptive readings of Debussy in the ethereal "Veils."

Augusta Stations Ask Sale to Papers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (UP).—Radio Augusta, Inc., operating stations WRDW and WRDW-TV at Augusta, Ga., has asked the communications commission for permission to transfer the stations to Southeastern Newspapers Inc., publishing the Augusta Chronicle and Herald.

The newspapers propose to acquire all stock in the outlets for about one million dollars.

Billy Mitchell Trial Film Good Entertainment

By PAUL JONES
 "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell," now showing at the Fox, is an inspiring true adventure which, at long last, exposes some of the mistakes in military thinking after World War 1. Mitchell, as the film points out, was a champion for strengthening America's air power after the end of the first world war. His determination to prove the potency of this weapon led to his untimely court-martial and eventual "exile" from the military. But, such prophecies as "Japan will strike at Pearl Harbor..." and "The next war will be fought in the air..." are grim testimony to his farsightedness. To bring this story to the screen, Otto Preminger has selected Gary Cooper for the title role; Ralph Bellamy, Rod Steiger and Charles Bickford in principal supporting parts. They carry out their assignments with true professional skill. Reviewer's rating: Good entertainment. Family classification. A love story written by two former Atlanta newspaper reporters—Mrs. Edna L. Lee and her son, Harry Lee—is the basis for a wonderful woman's picture now showing at Loew's Grand Theater, "All That Heaven Allows."

Universal-International has reunited the stars of their Magnificent Obsession, Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson, in this story of a beautiful, wealthy widow whose romantic intentions are thwarted by a selfish daughter and son. Hudson is the handsome, but poor outdoorsman who is attracted to Miss Wyman. They make an interesting romantic team. Agnes Moorehead and Gloria Talbott stand out in supporting roles. Beautifully photographed, the film capitalizes on several winter landscapes to give the picture pictorial polish and adroit direction makes this somewhat commonplace story theme come to life with an emotional thump. Reviewer's rating: Good romance-drama. For adults.

In "Last Frontier," now showing at the Paramount, Victor Mature impersonates a buckskin frontiersman who encountered the mightiest of all Indian tribes, the Sioux. Mature, it seems is an old Indian fighter, and when he joins the Federals as a scout his knowledge of battle tactics such as those used by other frontiersmen like Davy Crockett comes in handy. The only fault is that he can't make a stubborn Army colonel heed his warnings. Mature and the Army officer aren't seeing eye to eye anyway because Mature has his eyes fixed on the colonel's sweetheart and there's mutiny in the camp. Things work out to an action-wise climax, however, in a film that is loaded with outdoor adventure. Reviewer's rating: Good action. Family classification.

Stronger Freedom Ties Urged by Eisenhower

In applause, as is traditional in such circumstances. One of them, Rep. Dewey Short of Missouri, described the message as "super, superlative and sublime."

The Democrats, of course, were not remotely so lyrical. They went right on preparing for struggles with the administration on such subjects as the farm subsidy and perhaps taxes.

Nevertheless, though friendly and conciliatory in tone toward the Democrats the President summarized the record of the last three years in terms so strongly and traditionally political as to suggest that he was putting down the campaign guide marks for the Republican Party in this presidential election year.

Though he described it as a record made by Congress as well as the executive, and thus did not exclude the Democrats from a share of the credit, the President spoke in glowing phrases of unexampled accomplishments.

REDUCED COST

Achieved, he said, had been peace, "unparalleled" prosperity, reinforced defense at reduced costs, an end to inflation and governmental wage and price controls, gains in Social Security, and "unprecedented advances" in civil rights.

Not before had the President addressed Congress in quite such terms, and in consequence there was much speculation.

Was he not clearly indicating that in spite of his illness he was now heading toward a decision to stand for re-election?

Or was he delivering what was both a valedictory and an admonition to the Republicans as to how they should present to the voters this fall the story of the first Republican administration in 20 years?

It was questions of this sort, and not questions about the details of presidential recommendations that mainly sought only to consolidate and expand familiar Eisenhower policies, that dominated the thinking of Congress.

The program he offered fell into five major categories, in this order:

1. "The discharge of our world responsibility."

To carry forward a world policy based upon the achievement of peace and justice, the President said, it would be necessary to act to "remove the pall of fear," to strengthen all allied ties and to harden the free world's concert. Here he saluted the Democrats for having taken a bipartisan approach.

TRIED AT GENEVA

He had tried at the Geneva conference of the heads of government of the Big Four last July, he recalled, to open the way to an easing of East-West suspicions by his offer for an exchange of armaments information.

But, he went on, the meeting in October of the foreign ministers of the Big Four had "demonstrated conclusively that the Soviet leaders are not yet willing to create the indispensable conditions for a secure and lasting peace."

Thus, said the President, the conflict between the West and the Communist worlds had now "taken on a new complexion"—one of Communist encroachment rather than frontal assault—which posed a dangerous if less obvious threat than the old Soviet policy of outright belligerence.

For the immediate future, he declared, the purpose of this country would be to retain all and increase the West's striking power and its readiness to use that power if need be and also to encourage the West's "political cohesion and unity of purpose."

There was in this passage a clear indication that the administration, in preparing to ask for foreign aid an authorization of $4,900,000,000 against the current outlay of $2,700,000,000, had taken a fundamental high policy decision not merely to prolong but to enlarge and enhearten the whole Western system.

NATIONAL SECURITY

2. "The constant improvement of our national security."

Here, the President, possibly with past Democratic criticisms in mind, asserted that never in his history, apart from a war period, had the country had a military organization "better adapted to our needs with improved readiness for emergency use."

What would be spent, he went on, would be enough to avoid exposing the country to aggression and not so much as to "impair or destroy the very freedom and economic system our military defenses are designed to protect."

MORE IMPROVEMENTS

There had been and would be improvements, he said, in aircraft, in missiles, in all sorts of combat capabilities and the country, moreover, was "moving as rapidly as practicable toward nuclear-powered aircraft and ships."

3. "Fiscal integrity." "Long strides" already had been made in this connection, the President declared, and he added:

"I expect the budget to be in balance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956."

"I shall propose a balanced budget for the next fiscal year ending June 30, 1957."

The present tax was "very burdensome," he said, and "should be reduced when we prudently can."

Still, he added, it was first necessary to reduce the national debt, and then he summed up: "So, in the present state of our financial affairs I earnestly believe that a tax cut can be justifiable only when it will not unbalance the budget, a budget which makes provision for some reduction, even though modest, in our national debt."

The first general estimate of all this was that as a practical matter the President would be able to hold off a tax reduction for some months at least and possibly for the entire life of this session. It is expected to run until about August and the onset of the national political conventions.

STRONG ECONOMY

4. "To foster a strong economy."

Under this heading the President put in five issues—agriculture, conservation of resources, insurance against such natural disasters as storm and flood, area redevelopment and a federal highway building program.

Of agriculture, he said the farmers alone were seeing their incomes fall rather than rise and he offered a new type of subsidy, a "soil bank" program, to ease the situation.

5. "The response to human concerns."

In this category the President placed recommendations for federal aid to public school construction, liberalization of the pension system, more child welfare, health and hospital services, expanded housing, broadening of the minimum wage law, and several other items.

Some Highlights in Ike Appeal On Taxes, Arms, Farms and Roads

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Here in brief are some of the major points President Eisenhower presented in his report today on the State of the Union:

1. "In the face of Communist military power, we must, of course, continue to maintain an effective system of collective security."

2. "I expect the budget to be in balance. A tax cut can be deemed justifiable only when it will not unbalance the budget, a budget which makes some provisions for reduction, even though modest, in our national debt."

3. "Our farm objective must be to help bring production into balance with existing and new markets, at prices that yield farmers a return for their work in line with what other Americans get."

4. "Legislation to provide a modern interstate highway system is even more urgent this year than last."

5. "I urge that the Congress move promptly to enact an effective program of federal assistance to help erase the existing deficit of school classrooms."

6. "I again point out to the Congress the urgent need for revision of the immigration and nationality laws."

level." He expressed regret that the entire House had not heard the protest delivered by Lanham.

Rep. Rivers (D-SC) said the people of South Carolina would "stand by Georgia in this fight."

"We fought before and we killed as many of them as they did of us," he said.

Reviewing the history of the case, Lanham told the House that Assistant U.S. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III, under Brownell's direction, had ordered an FBI investigation into Cobb County jury selection methods after the U.S. Supreme Court issued a ruling Dec. 5 upsetting the conviction of a Negro in the Cobb County Superior Court on a rape charge.

"I rise to express my indignation and utter contempt for this unwarranted action on the part of the attorney general acting through this man, Olney the Third, and the FBI," he said. "How deeply into politics is the attorney general willing to drag the FBI, which until Mr. Brownell became attorney general had been operated in a manner to win approval of the law-abiding citizens of America."

Lanham declared that if FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover continues to permit his organization to be used for political ends, "as is the case in the present investigation in Cobb County, he will inevitably destroy this great organization."

Lanham said: "The attorney general must take a major portion of the blame for this prostitution and weakening of the FBI, which in the past has enjoyed the highest confidence of the people. But this confidence and respect cannot be expected to continue if the organization is to be used for political purposes and to try to garner the votes of the NAACP and its followers by interfering with the courts of a sovereign state in the administration of its criminal laws."

In conclusion, he served notice that "the State of Georgia does not intend to submit passively to interference on the part of the federal government with the administration of its criminal laws."

"Those of you who are not from the South," he declared, "had best take warning that if it can happen to us in the South, it can happen to you if a politically minded Department of Justice thinks it will promote its political welfare."

(Meanwhile, in Atlanta, attorney Dan Duke stated that although he had represented Reece in appeals to the Georgia and U.S. Supreme Courts, he had nothing to do with the investigation of the Cobb jury system.

(He said the FBI had not consulted him about the case until Wednesday when two agents questioned him. He said he told the agents the investigation "was highly prejudicial against Amos Reece, who no doubt would be tried within the next 90 days.")

German Union Freed Of Reds in Election

BREMEN, Germany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Workers at the Krupp controlled A. G. Weser shipyard snarled under the Communists in an election of shop stewards this week.

For the first time since 1945, the Metal Workers Union said tonight, not a Communist candidate was seated. Of the 17 new stewards 13 are Socialists and four independents.

U.S. Judge Threatens To Defy Appeals Court's Mixing Order

he "will act only on directive of the U.S. Supreme Court."

Then he said he had asked the Hillsboro School Board and the city solicitor to meet with him next Wednesday.

"I feel I am entitled to a hearing before the Supreme Court," he continued. "I will ask the Hamilton County Bar Assn. to name an attorney to represent me and the case can be taken to the Supreme Court in my name."

But, the judge added, "If the board (School Board) feels it can comply with the order of the Court of Appeals, that's well and good. That ends it."

Under court procedure, it was explained, the Circuit Court of Appeals' mandate will not be delivered to Judge Druffel until 20 days have passed.

So, the next step would be up to the School Board to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court, should it want to continue further. The Hillsboro School Board has denied that it was practicing segregation when it established school zones which kept some Negro children from other than the all-colored Lincoln Grade School.

It is a matter of seats, desks and room, Paul Upp, school superintendent, and the Board of Education have said in the past. They have pointed out that a school building program was under way and that additional rooms will be available by the end of the 1956 school term.

Judge Druffel upheld the board on these points. Upp told a newsmen this afternoon that he "would have no comment until I talk with Judge Druffel next week."

Callaway and Robert Pennington, vice chairman, and Charlie Boynton, county-appointed assessors, said that after deduction of $113,000,000 in homestead exemptions a total of $281,274,719 would remain as taxable.

Three Popular Ways to Save and Invest at The C&S

1—Regular Savings Accounts—Start your account with any amount, add to it as you wish. Savings regularly draw the current interest rate and provide quick cash for emergencies. Many people use savings accounts to save money for buying C&S Savings Certificates.

2—Automatic Savings—The C&S savings plan that works automatically for you. On your instructions, the bank regularly switches a fixed amount from your checking account to savings. Your money mounts up before you know it.

3—C&S Savings Certificates—The bank-type investment in which thousands of Georgians are investing millions of dollars. Available in units of $100 or more, they mature in just two years, pay 2½% interest a year if held to maturity. Both principal and interest are bank-guaranteed.

Saturday's Batteries: Hardy vs. Reichow

MVPs of Blue-Gray, Shrine QB Foes in Senior Bowl

By JESSE OUTLAR

Two quarterbacks who grabbed MVP awards in leading all-star teams to victory last week will match pitches Saturday in the seventh annual Senior Bowl in Mobile.

For guiding the Grays to a 20-19 victory over the Blues in Montgomery last Saturday, Kentucky's Bob Hardy was named the game's outstanding player. For directing the East in a 29-6 rout of the West in San Francisco, Iowa's Jerry Reichow received the same accolade.

They'll be on the opposite side of the fence in Ladd Stadium, calling signals for the cream of the nation's crop of collegiate stars.

Paul Brown, the great Cleveland Browns' coach, who is handling the South, has named Hardy as his starting pitcher. And he also honored the Kentucky boy by appointing him captain of the offensive team. Maryland's All-American center, Bob Pellegrini, will captain the defensive platoon.

Buddy Parker, boss of the Detroit Lions, and head coach of the North team, tapped three players as co-captains. Reichow and Wisconsin's Jim Haluska will lead the offensive unit, and Michigan State's Gary Lowe heads up the defensive line.

Both coaches put the finishing touches to their attacks, stressing offense in a lengthy drill Thursday, and Joe Childress, the Auburn ace, figures very prominently in the South setup. Reports from the practice arena said Brown was employing Childress as the key man in the South backfield. Teammate Fob James and Ed Vereb of Maryland and Don McIlhenny of SMU add to the South's terrific running game.

Lou Baldacci of Michigan, Lou Cimarrilli of Pittsburgh and Bob Moss of West Virginia are expected to carry the brunt of the load for the North Infantry. Reichow is also a nifty runner, in addition to being an excellent hurler.

All week long the rival coaches have swapped compliments and wrangled over the under dog role. So the oddsmakers stepped in Thursday and settled the quarrel, installing the South as a seven-point favorite.

Most of the players are reported in fine physical condition, for 46 of the 50 participants have played in one or more post-season classics.

OUTDOOR GEORGIA

STATE'S LATE DOVE FLIGHT SEEMS BIGGER AND FASTER

By BILL ALLEN

Back yonder in September, when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service gave us Georgians all-day dove hunting, but shortened the split-seasons, a lot of people yowled about the season dates, especially the one on now, Dec. 22 to Jan. 10.

State G&F director Fulton Lovell chose to take those dates in order to get all-day shooting, you remember, and he said the shooting would be best state-wide during the last term. It is.

I noticed the end of both the turkey and dove seasons were approaching (Jan. 10) and so I went south to check up on the dove shooting and also a story of a pointer turkey-dog used by a gentleman down there.

The dove shooting, I can report, is everything anybody would ever want it to be.

L. H. (Red) Harp and I slipped off down to Pinehurst to visit Grant (Doc) McCrary—a turkey hunter of some renown, and we were greeted by the most amazing dove shoot I've been on since 1940. It was in Dooley County.

but, and they share in the gate take.

Scouts from every pro club and several Canadian representatives are expected to sit in on the game.

Mercer Tops Wofford

MACON, Jan. 5.—Taking a quick 10 to 3 lead in the first four minutes of play, the Mercer Bears were never behind as they went on to defeat the Wofford Terriers from Spartanburg, S. C. here Thursday, 77-70.

The Terriers in losing their sixth game in eight starts outscored the Bears from the floor 27 to 22 field goals, but the Bears hit 35 out of 47 free throws while Wofford was getting 16 for 26, which accounted for the margin of victory.

Cary Moore, Mercer's center, led the Bears with 23 points, 17 of them from the 15-foot line to spark the Bears to their third win against two losses. Harry Wallace paced Wofford with 14.

Auburn Carries New Confidence Into Mississippi Cage Contests

By MICKEY LOGUE

There's nothing like an opening Southeastern Conference victory to raise a team's confidence. And nothing like a look at the schedule to get its guard up, too. Ask Auburn's basketballers.

The Tigers' morale shot skyward after a successful 83-77 SEC debut against Florida Monday night on the Gators' home court. But prospects of a rugged two-stop trip to Mississippi this weekend applied proper caution to mounting Plainsmen enthusiasm.

Auburn meets Mississippi State at Starkville Saturday, and dribbles into Oxford Monday for a scrap with Ole Miss.

"I think our game with Rice (a two-point loss in double overtime) helped our boys," Coach Joel Eaves said. "They found out they could get out and hold their own against a real good ball club. And beating Florida helped, too."

The Rice struggle finished a pre-conference slate as tough as any in Auburn history, maybe tougher. Texas and Eastern Kentucky tripped the Tigers in the Blue-Gray tournament and Oklahoma City slammed them before the Owl duel.

Earlier wins over Birmingham-Southern and Howard give the Plainsmen a 3-4 chart.

"There's no comparison between this season's non-conference schedule and others we've had," Eaves disclosed. "And we hope the strong competition helped the boys develop faster."

Florida would agree it did. Key Slayden, a 6-4 senior forward from Columbus, and guard Henry Sturkie (6-0) have been the most improved among the more experienced players.

"Slayden has been scoring better and his defensive work has improved," Eaves continued. "It's hard to single out any phase of play for Sturkie's improvement. His over-all play is sharper. He's coming up with the ball more."

Slayden's increased basketballing has been especially noticeable in the closing, crucial minutes of tight games. He sacked 21 points against Rice and 22 in the Florida scrap, hitting well in the last halves.

Alt-Capt. Jim Diamond, spring-legged 6-1 forward, and guard Bobby Tucker, a 6-foot soph, have furnished much of Auburn's "fire" and drive, a task bequeathed them by graduated 1955 captain Bill Kirkpatrick.

Soph center Bill McGriff (6-7) heads the scoring with a 14.4 point per game average. Capt. Jim O'Donnell (13.1), Slayden (12.6) and Sturkie (10.0) are starters with 10-per or better shooting marks.

Big man McGriff has developed "about as expected." Though vital in '56 plans, he's still a year away from possible greatness.

"We could be a little better than a year ago, and think we are right now," Coach Eaves said. "But we have a long row ahead."

WOMAN ATHLETE OF YEAR

Patty Berg's Secret: Hit Greens in Regulation

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Golfers Patty Berg, today named woman athlete of the year for 1955, calls herself a "meat and potatoes" player.

"By that I mean that last year I was hitting the greens in regulation," said the 37-year-old redhead who won six major tournaments. "That's the meat and potatoes of golf—the key to the game."

"Every winter down at my home in Fort Myers (Fla.) I give my game a complete self-analysis," she told a reporter. "A year ago, I decided that my drives and long irons could stand some improvement. So I concentrated on that phase in practices. This winter I'm going in for chipping and putting."

"But I didn't start out 1955 any too well," continued the little veteran of 22 years of competitive golf. "At Jacksonville I was plenty wild all over the course and after the first round was 13th in the field."

"Then I got a long-distance phone call from my stepmother and dad. I told them I didn't know what I was doing wrong but it was something. You know what they did? They began studying pictures they had taken of me playing three weeks previously."

"They called me back and said that those pictures revealed that there was a flaw in my stance—something I unwittingly had been doing. Well, I went out, got my stance back in order and finished second in the tourney. That's what I call remote control coaching."

BERG BEST ATHLETE FOR THIRD TIME
Redheaded Patty Holds Tools of Her Trade

It is the third time Patty has been voted woman athlete of the year by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters. She won the honor in 1938 and again in 1943, two years after shattering her knee cap in an auto accident and spending 18 months in hospital.

In 1955 she became the first woman to take both the money-winning title ($16,492) and Vare trophy (based on a low scoring 74.47 stroke average) in the same season. She polled 200 points in the voting, beating out golfer Babe Zaharias by 54 and tennis player Doris Hart, who was third, by a whopping 107.

"One thing that helped me a lot last year was taking tap dancing and ballet lessons," Patty said. "Dad suggested them to strengthen my leg. They have given me rhythm, balance and grace. I usually take my tap shoes with me, and if you hear a clatter somewhere, it will be me practicing my dancing routines."

"You know," Patty continued, "you have to have desire to keep playing year after year—and I have plenty of it. I feel I can keep going a long time yet. The keen interest of my family in me has been a great force. And God has been very kind to me."

Patty, known for her concentration on the golf course, was asked if she had any secrets about playing the game.

"Yes, I have," she said. "Every time I tee up the ball, I imagine all the other players in the tournament have shot women's par or better. That gives me my goal, keeps my mind active."

"And I never underestimate an opponent. I know she has worked as hard as I have and deserves as much as I do."

Canadian Ousts Bitsy Grant

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 5.—Armando Vieira, Brazilian champion, cooled off upset-minded Orlando Garrido today in the quarterfinals of the Dixie tennis tournament.

Vieira performed a workmanlike job in his 6-2, 6-2 victory over the Cuban Davis Cup player, who had loomed as a dark horse for the title after upsetting third-seeded Grant Golden yesterday.

Vieira lived up to his No. 1 seeding among foreign players with a sound, all-court game. Garrido was unseeded.

Other favorites also won today. Bob Bedard of Quebec, Canada, rated third among the foreign group, was pushed to the limit by Atlanta's Bryan (Bitsy) Grant. Bedard won, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3. Second-seeded Sidney Schwartz of New York trounced Rupert Huber of Germany, 6-2, 6-1.

Defending champion Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N.J., and fourth-seeded Allen Morris of Presbyterian College did not have singles matches.

Bob Howe, young Australian seeded No. 2 among the foreign contingent, trimmed Calhoun Dickson of Tampa, 6-3, 10-8.

Lausse and Savage Battle in Garden

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Although it's overlooked in the confusion about boxing guilds and promoters shuffling off to Baltimore, a pretty fair middleweight fight is scheduled Friday night at Madison Square Garden between Eduardo Lausse, the Argentine with 31 straight victories, and rugged Milo Savage of Salt Lake City.

This may be the last match at the Garden for a long time if the Boxing Guild of New York and Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, stand fast. The next scheduled Garden boxing date is Friday, Feb. 3, with the ice show taking over in the interval.

Helfand set a Jan. 16 deadline for all managers to divorce themselves from the Boxing Guild of New York and all promoters are having trouble making matches after that date.

Television and radio fans will get the usual Friday network (NBC) coverage at 10 p.m. (EST). Lausse, who has become a favorite with American fans because of his solid left hook, is a 3-to-1 favorite to add Savage to his growing list of victims. The 28-year-old puncher hasn't lost since he dropped a decision to Kid Gavilan, Sept. 13, 1952, when the Keed was welter champ. Lausse finally caught up with Gavilan last Sept. 3 shortly before his return to the U.S.

In his last Garden appearance, Lausse whipped Gene Fullmer, the mauler from West Jordan, Utah, who upset Rocky Castellani Thursday night.

Blassies Risk Tag Crown

The Blassie brother, Fred and Bill, will put their tag team title on the line against Roger Mackey and Jackie Nichols in the feature match on Friday night's wrestling program at Municipal Auditorium. First match is scheduled for 8:30.

The featured team match will be a one fall affair carrying a time limit of 60 minutes. The Blassie brothers are roughhouse batters, while Mackey and Nichols lean to the more scientific side of the game.

Three other matches are on the card. Boris Kalmikoff tangles with 19-year-old newcomer, Don Roche and Red McIntyre clashes with Whitey Whittier. Participants in another match will be announced at ringside.

Morehouse Clips Lemoyne, 94-63

Forward Don Clendenon scored 21 points Tuesday night as Morehouse defeated Lemoyne, Tenn., College, 94-63, at the Morehouse gym.

George Hudson led the Lemoyne scorers with 15 points. The victory brought Morehouse record for the SIAC season to six wins against one loss. Friday night Morehouse will be host to the Fisk Bulldogs, who sport an 8-0 record.

Mendes, Socialists Spurn Faure, Seek Own Cabinet

Hope To Win to Power by Threat To Block Any Other Government

By HAROLD CALLENDER

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Socialist-Radical coalition refused today to join a union of moderate parties urged yesterday by Premier Faure. Instead it will propose to the Assembly the formation of a government under Socialist-Radical (moderate) leadership.

Such was the decision of the two leaders of the moderately leftist Republican Front: Pierre Mendes-France, Radical leader, and Guy Mollet, secretary general of the Socialist Party.

Their plan was understood to assume that President Rene Coty would summon either of these two leaders to go before the Assembly as a candidate for Premier. The one chosen then would declare his program in the usual way, and it would be up to the "old majority" that backed Faure to accept or reject him.

If it accepted him, he would then form a Cabinet mainly of Socialists and Radicals and try to get his program through the Assembly, beginning probably with a quick negotiation in Algeria.

According to the plan, there would be no bargaining with other parties and no effort to build a government from many groups, as is usually done to get a majority.

These tactics resemble those employed by Mendes-France in June 1954, when he became Premier by promising to end the war in Indo-China in 30 days.

It was expected that, as in the case of Mendes-France when he sought the premiership, the Republican Front would frame a program consisting of a few immediate objectives, including revision of the electoral law, peace in Algeria and economic reforms.

It would bid for responsibility on the theory that a homogeneous government would be stronger than one politically balanced by representatives of all important moderate groups.

In its bid for power, the Republican Front would be in a strong position, it was believed. For it turned down by the Assembly, it could block formation of any other government by refusing its votes to any Cabinet other groups proposed.

Some here envisaged such a situation, in which no government would be possible. The Assembly then might be obliged to give up, dissolve itself and precipitate a new national election.

Poet-Novelist LaFarge Dies After Stroke

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Jan. 5 (AP)—Christopher LaFarge, 58, poet and best-selling novelist, died tonight at Jane Brown Hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

LaFarge, scion of a family whose members attained distinction in the arts, was also a painter and architect, but achieved his widest fame as a writer.

His novel, "The Sudden Guest," published in 1946 and dealing with his home section of Rhode Island, South County, during the 1938 hurricane, had a sale of more than half a million copies.

Ivey's Plan Wins PTA Council OK

By HERMAN HANCOCK

The Atlanta Council of Parent-Teacher Assns. Thursday unanimously approved the long-range improvement plan for Atlanta schools and promised full support in implementing the program.

Meeting at Fowler Street School, more than 500 heard Dr. John Ivey Jr., director of the Atlanta school study council, explain the survey.

On motion of Mrs. Sara Sorrells, the group pledged their backing for the plan, which would revamp the school system and add millions of dollars worth of physical equipment.

The Ivey report recommends that school taxes be increased to a peak of 25.8 mills. Dr. Ivey told the group adoption of the program is a "bet on Atlanta's future." He said the need is already here in increasing school population. He warned if the city is to keep abreast of its educational problem it must raise school outlays.

THOMASTON, Jan. 5 — Roy Stephens, 66, well known Thomaston businessman and auto dealer, died Thursday in Emory Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Stephens held one of the oldest Ford Auto Co. franchises in the south. He became a Ford dealer at The Rock in 1913 and later moved here and continued his agency.

He and his twin brother, Rob, owned Stephens Funeral Home, Stephens Insurance Agency and had extensive farming interests in Upson County.

Mr. Stephens became a member of the Upson County Board of Education in 1944 and had served continuously since then.

Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace Stephens; a son, Rob Roy Stephens, and a sister, Miss Mariella Stephens, Decatur.

Stocks Fade off After Early Zest

Rail Sales Are Depressing To Many Issues; Coppers Up

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (U-P)—An early promise of a general advance in the stock market today faded away by the close. Only slight headway was maintained at the finish of trading with prices spread over a range of around 3 points higher to 2 points lower.

The market began on a higher note, ending a two-day decline. By noon it faltered, and from that point on the path was mostly downward. Near the close, there was new selling in the railroads, and this depressed a number of key stocks. Chemicals were lower with the rails.

Coppers on the other hand displayed late improvement as the strike-bound Chilean copper industry began to stir with settlements that started sending men back to work.

President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message to Congress brought out no surprises to Wall Street. The strings tied to a possible tax cut remained a matter to inspire caution in the stock market.

It was noted that the market turned quiet at noon when the President's message was released, and that time also marked the high point of the day's advance. From then on prices deteriorated. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $178.50 after being up 60 cents at noon. It was off 80 cents yesterday and 90 cents the previous day. The industrial component was up 20 cents while railroads declined 50 cents and utilities advanced 30 cents.

The list was composed of 1,179 individual issues of which 572 advanced and 366 declined with 14 new highs and 8 new lows for 1955-56 reached. The margin of plus signs was a good representation of the degree of advance in the market.

Volume stepped down to 2,110,000 shares as compared with 2,290,000 shares yesterday.

General Motors occupied its usual position at the top of the most active list at 44 1/4. It was down 1/4 yesterday.

Next came New York Central at 11 1/4 at 44 1/4. Phillips Petroleum up 1/4 at 85 1/4. RKO Theaters up 1/4 at 11 1/4. Southern Production up 1/4 at 37 1/4.

Lower were Radio Corp. 1/4. Allied Chemical 1/4. Union Carbide 1/4. Libby McNeil 1/4. Paramount Pictures 1/4. Standard Oil (NJ) 1/4. and Southern Railway 2.

The American Stock Exchange was generally higher on volume of 660,000 shares as compared with 710,000 shares traded yesterday.

Corporate bonds were higher. U.S. government issues traded over the counter were higher.

Cotton Firms On New Crop

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (U-P)—Cotton futures featured strength in new crop deliveries today and closed 20 cents a bale lower to $1.85 higher.

Traders took a constructive viewpoint on pending new farm legislative proposals. Commission house demand and early buying in volume, credited to Memphis interests, found offerings scarce. This in turn induced professional covering.

While distant months closed at or near the best for the day, current crop deliveries sagged on liquidation and hedging. Traders talked of an average loan on the 1956 cotton crop around 30 cents a pound level, compared to 33.50 cents on the 1955 crop and considered prices for distant futures attractive on that basis.

Traders were also impressed by the possibility of additional voluntary cuts in acreage by farmers in return for government payments in cash or surplus commodities. There still was no news on sales of CCC cotton to the trade for export on which bids were opened late Tuesday.

Defense Expansion Put at $171 Million

Georgia industry has invested nearly $171 million in facilities to speed defense work since 1950.

From the outbreak of the Korean War through June 1955, Georgia firms have engaged in 93 such projects costing $170,999,000.

This figure does not include expenditures on transportation, utility and communication facilities, nor millions spent by industry on other than defense activities.

Merrill C. Lofton, U.S. Dept. of Commerce field manager in Atlanta, said the $171 million represents about 1 per cent of the $19,541,167,000 spent over the United States.

In the immediate Southeastern area—Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas—industry spent $1,524,000 on 821 projects.

Expenditures in the other states were Alabama, $301,476,000; Florida, $343,589,000; Mississippi, $155,026,000; North Carolina, $181,473,000; South Carolina, $62,563,000; and Tennessee, $308,953,000.

Of the 821 projects, Alabama had 169, Florida 131, Mississippi 60, North Carolina 164, South Carolina 63 and Tennessee 141.

7,950,000 Passenger Cars

A combination of official and unofficial figures show the auto industry built approximately 7,950,000 passenger cars in 1955. And General Motors, Ford and Chrysler produced more than 7,950,000 of them.

Figures announced by the industry's "Big Three" show General Motors plants in the United States turned out 3,889,987; Ford 2,240,661 and Chrysler 1,861,355. These were record smashing totals in each instance.

In the production race between Chevrolet and Ford, the big GM producer finished first with a margin of more than 65,000 units. Chevrolet had 1,830,037 to Ford's 1,764,524. Buick was third with 781,296 and Plymouth fourth with 742,891.

Food Index Lowest in 5 1/2 Years

Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Index dipped slightly this week, reaching the lowest level in five and one-half years.

The index dropped from $5.97 a week ago to $5.95. It was the lowest since June 13, 1950, shortly before the beginning of the Korean War. A year ago, the index stood at $6.75.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Late Selling Clips Grains

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (AP)—Most grains ended lower on the Board of Trade today when selling pressure expanded in the last two hours of active trading.

Prior to the sell-off, the entire market had gone ahead with wheat and corn in the lead. Rye was the first grain to turn weak, running into profit taking after all futures had set new seasonal highs.

Profit taking then appeared in wheat. Soybeans backed down quickly, partly reflecting the fact there has not been much demand for cash soybeans being delivered on January contracts. Feed grains resisted the selling.

Wheat closed 1/2 cent lower, corn 1/4 cent lower, oats 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher, rye 1 cent lower, soybeans 1/4 cent lower to 1 cent higher and 1/2 cent to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower.

RENEWS FIGHT Vote League Raps Private School Move

The Georgia League of Women Voters Thursday renewed its opposition to scrapping the public school system, as the Griffin administration prepared to transfer the state to a private school system in event segregation falls.

The League issued a brief statement in support of the public school system a day after the Georgia Education Commission proposed a half dozen bills to implement the "private school" constitutional amendment. It campaigned against the constitutional amendment in 1954.

"We are in favor of retaining the public school system," said Mrs. Walter Paschall of Atlanta, president of the state league. "We have not yet seen the bills proposed by the Georgia Education Commission. If they are designed to abolish our system of public schools, we will be against them."

The League of Women Voters has taken no stand on segregation.

The Georgia Education Commission which approved, without dissent, the bills to close public schools and send students to private schools if segregation falls, is headed by Gov. Griffin.

Among its members are State School Supt. M. D. Collins, Chancellor Harmon Caldwell, State School Board Chairman George Whitman Jr., Regents' Chairman Robert Arnold, Former GEA President Harvey Cutts, Bibb School Supt. Mark Smith, and Regent Roy Harris. Two educational leaders, Atlanta School Supt. Ira Jarrell and Regent Charlie Bloch, were absent when the resolution was passed.

Billy Graham Bigamist Must Atone To 2 Wives

QUESTION: I would like a frank reply through the newspaper to this problem because a letter would create a great stir in my family affairs. I have told no one else but feel that to clear my own conscience I must do the right thing. What would be the most Christian act at this time? You see, I was married, then deserted my first wife with two children, and am now married illegally to a younger woman but with no children. I have not divorced my first wife.—J. L.

ANSWER: You understand that it is difficult to give a clear answer for there must be other details in your tangled affair that you have not disclosed. It is clear that you have wronged both women, and in addition have offended God through your past conduct. On the surface it seems that you are clearly the husband of your deserted wife, and that your present situation is not a marriage either in God's sight or the state's.

You are also responsible to your children. The wrong you have done can never be undone and you must bear the scars of it throughout life. The better thing would be to resume your first responsibility; that is, if your former wife will have you. Then you are obliged to do all in your power to amend the wrong done to the woman with whom you now live.

Finally, you must rely on the pure mercy of God for His forgiveness. Christ died for all who have sinned and come short of God's glory. Your only hope for eternity is with Him. Confess Him as Saviour, and turn from your sinful way of life to serve Him.

Leaders in Drive For Presbyterian College Named

Four Atlantans will lead a statewide drive for funds during February for Presbyterian College's Diamond Jubilee development program.

Cochairmen for the Synod of Georgia are H. Lane Young, a former president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank, and Dr. Harry A. Fifield, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Cochairmen for the Atlanta region, which includes 12 counties, are L. H. Parris and the Rev. Arthur Vann Gibson, pastor of Morningside Presbyterian Church. The 12 counties included are Fulton, DeKalb, Cobb, Gwinnett, Walton, Rockdale, Newton, Henry, Spalding, Clayton, Douglas and Fayette.

Funds raised in the campaign will be used by the college for expansion, capital developments and endowments. Goal for the college's two controlling synods of Georgia and South Carolina is $750,000 during 1956.

Clothes To Suit Southern Women Introduced at 1956 Showing Here

By MARY GRAY ANDERSON

The oldest and largest line of summer suits for American women presented its new spring and summer collection in Atlanta this week.

Sacony was the first to give Southern women a suit that they could wear about 80 per cent of the year, including the hot summer months. Now, with the advent of air-conditioning and extensive traveling, the suits are enjoying even greater popularity.

This company holds the franchise on Palm Beach fabrics in women's wear. And they make their own knit fabrics for suits and sportswear. Another rather unique position that these suits hold is that their moderate price has not changed in the last 10 years.

Miss Alberta Helms and Miss Suzanne Gilbert, fashion consultants for the company, visited an Atlanta store this week to introduce the 1956 collection.

Basically, three nice things have happened in the line of Palm Beach suits. A new fabric has been added. It is called Palm Beach faille. It contains the usual rayon, acetate and wool, but 5 per cent nylon has been added to give it a silk-like feel and sheen and a faille rib texture.

Also a few striped fabrics are being introduced in stark contrast to the usual solid color fabrics. And colors such as reds and blues add a bright note to the darker tones of navy, gray, brown and beige.

TWO FACTORS

There are two important factors that make these suits almost a permanent part of many women's wardrobes. First, they are proportioned in size for the misses', petite and half-size figure.

And there are styles for youthful and mature figures. Some have long-length jackets with slenderizing lines; others have short, perky jackets.

Another attribute of these suits that appeals to women is that they give serviceable wear with very little care. They make dandy travel suits because they resist wrinkling, and the few they do get can usually be steamed out in a few minutes. Also, they are washable, so spots can be erased easily and quickly.

OTHER CITIES

The fashion consultants will visit other Georgia cities on their five-month Southern tour. The cities and dates include: Rome, Jan. 9; Augusta, Jan. 11; Savannah, Jan. 12; Macon, Jan. 16, and Columbus, Jan. 18. For information on where these suits are available in Atlanta call WA. 5050, Ext. 394, or send a self-addressed post card to the Women's Dept., The Atlanta Constitution.

They Went To Jeer Boss But They Cheered Ballet

By BETTY CARROLLTON

He who laughs last... has the most fun. And even the horse laugh can be a double-edged sword. A handsome Atlanta bachelor, whose ballet-dancing hobby has been the object of good-natured razzing from his friends, has had the last laugh.

Walter Heist, head of the order department and purchasing agent of an Atlanta steel firm, and a member of the Southern Ballet, kept his hobby a secret from members of his department until he was ready to make his first public appearance as a ballet dancer.

"I didn't think I could take the kidding that went along with a man studying the ballet," he explained, "so during the six months I studied and rehearsed with the Southern Ballet, I did not even mention it."

REVEALED SECRET

He revealed his hobby four years ago by "suggesting very strongly" that every member of his department attend the opening night of his first performance.

Everyone attended the ballet in a body to please the boss, and for the laughs they expected at his expense.

"Most of them had never seen a ballet," Mr. Heist said, "and they went just to give me the horse laugh."

But they soon forgot that their purpose was to razz the boss, and found themselves leading the applause for the dancer.

Attending the ballet has become tradition with them, and they now have a sincere appreciation of the art.

Mr. Heist, too, has learned to better appreciate the ballet since his studies with Pittman Corry and Karen Conrad, directors of the Southern Ballet.

"It definitely is not a sissy occupation," he said.

TEAMWORK

Mr. Heist has found that dancing keeps him in good physical condition, improves his coordination and has taught him the value of teamwork, which is aiding him in his work with Armo Drainage and Metal Products, Inc. It has also taught him self-confidence.

The 33-year-old executive said he is sorry he did not take up the ballet years ago.

"A dancer must start young to really be good," he said. "The ballet is much harder than the average person realizes and a really good performer must spend a great deal more time on it than I do. I'm afraid I waited too late."

CROCKETT DANCE

Mr. Heist has danced in two children's ballets and he's had a taste of choreography — but he does not plan to enter this field.

He agreed to dance for his church on a Saturday evening following a Friday performance in Washington, Ga. On the Washington trip, the bus broke down and the show was delayed several hours. Back in Atlanta, after only two hours' sleep, Mr.

Heist put in his regular work day and hurried to the church. He improvised a dance to the tune of "Davy Crockett," with no rehearsal.

"I was so sure I'd botch it up I wouldn't even take a bow," he recalled. "Never again!"

His dance was a hit with the audience, however, and they were calling for encores without realizing the dancer was half way home.

The 10th season of the Southern Ballet will feature Mr. Heist in three performances at the Tower Theater: "Juliet of the Hills," Jan. 13; "The Dogwood Legend" and "Shadowplay," Jan. 14.

And his own cheering section, composed of the men and women who first went to jeer, will be on hand both evenings.

Wesleyan Club Will Honor Miss McGarrity

Members of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club will entertain at an informal reception honoring Miss Evelyn McGarrity following her appearance as guest artist with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra Tuesday night. The reception takes place at the Joseph Habersham DAR chapter house on 15th street.

Miss McGarrity is a graduate of Andrew College, Wesleyan Conservatory and the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. She toured with the Broadway company of Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Consul." She also was soloist with the Robert Shaw Chorale on tour and in Carnegie Hall. Miss McGarrity received a Fulbright scholarship to Italy and made her debut with the Rome Opera Company in "Madame Butterfly."

Woman's Club House on Peachtree Is a Duplicate of a French Chateau

By YOLANDE GWIN

There is a replica of a French chateau on Atlanta's famous Peachtree street.

On Sunday afternoon several hundred visitors will stroll through its halls, sip tea and munch on sandwiches and cakes.

And thereby hangs a story.

Members of the Atlanta Woman's Club, headed by Mrs. Beverly Johnson, will entertain at their annual New Year's open house between 3 and 5 p.m. (It was postponed from last week due to the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans.)

NEWCOMERS

A lot of newcomers to the city will attend and will be interested in the chateau.

The big stone house at 1150 Peachtree St., present home of the Atlanta Woman's Club, was built prior to 1910 by the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wimbish. Mr. Wimbish, an attorney, came here from Columbus, and his wife was the former Susie Dickinson of Bainbridge.

"Mrs. Wimbish loved beautiful furniture and was an ardent traveler," recalled Mrs. Katherine Connerat, a charter member of the club. "She made many tours to Europe, and on one she spied a place in the beautiful chateau country of southern France. She returned here and said she had found her dream house and planned to build a replica here."

The home was built by W. T. Downing, according to the wishes and dreams of Mrs. Wimbish.

BUILT SLATON HOME

"He built the John Grant home on West Paces Ferry road, the John M. Slaton home on Peachtree road, and also mine, which is still right around the corner on 14th street from the club," added Mrs. Connerat.

Once completed, the Wimbish home became the scene of many brilliant social affairs. The couple gave many parties and among them was the debut supper-dance given in 1913 to introduce their nieces to Atlanta society. They were Bonnie Christine Barnard of Marietta, Addy Anthony of Griffin, and Louise des Vergers of Bainbridge.

Miss Barnard married Clarence Coppedge. When their daughter, Shirley Coppedge married William F. Sartain at St. Philip's Cathedral on St. Valentine's Day in 1950, the wedding reception was held in the same rooms where the bride's mother bowed to society. In fact, the couple stood before the same mantel where the debs stood in 1913.

GROWING PAINS

Along about 1920, the Atlanta Woman's Club, the first federated group in the city, was having growing pains in its headquarters on Baker street, former site of the Christian Church.

"Mr. Wimbish was one of the outstanding freight rate lawyers in the United States," said Mrs. B. M. Boykin, former club president. "Many cases were to be heard before the U.S. Supreme Court, so he and Mrs. Wimbish went to Washington to live. The house was for sale, and the club decided to buy it. We paid $40,000 for the house and property which extended to Crescent avenue. I remember going to Chattanooga to get a $77,000 loan. We insured 77 members for $1,000 each. We paid every penny back, but it took us 30 years to do it!"

The Woman's Club set up "business" in the chateau with the late Mrs. Claude Smith, then Mrs. Irving Thomas, as president. Then, when Mrs. Boykin became president, an auditorium, costing $110,000, and a banquet hall, costing $47,500, were added.

It was named the Lucile King Thomas Auditorium for the former president. The former Miss King lived across the street from the Wimbish home in the big white columned home of her father, the late George King. It is now the Miller Building. It

Don't Hesitate To Try 'Hattier' Spring Chapeaux

Is there any woman alive who isn't always interested in a new hat?

January is not too early to buy one that looks distinctly springy—in a soft, flexible textured straw cloth, for instance, in a pretty light beige or eggshell color.

Yes, the "hattier" hat is still the big fashion—only the new spring hats are softer, less bulky, and much easier to wear than the first of them were this fall.

If you were reluctant to try one then, don't hesitate now—and the sooner the better.

Celestine Sibley Of Affairs Disorganized

Muv says she never saw such a household in her life. It's a wonder to her any of us keep our health or our sanity, the big bobble we make out of living.

Personally, I didn't know what she was talking about. I had lit the fire in the living room grate, and then because it felt so good, I had stretched out on the floor in front of it.

"Certainly is a dignified position for a lady," sniffed Muv, seating herself, stiff and corseted, on the sofa.

I baked myself, turning slowly, before the fire and listened to the rise and fall of the sounds of the household. The eldest daughter, following her mother's example, lay on the floor, alternately pumping her legs in the air (to make them look like some movie star's) and struggling with her Spanish.

"The sir (I guess that's gentleman)," she intoned aloud, "looked his friend in the big house. . . . No, that must be 'saw his friend in the street.' . . . But what on earth is this?"

She murmured some Spanish words and I thought they made a pretty sound, rolling out there in the firelight, although I didn't understand a single one.

Then I couldn't even hear the Spanish for two strictly American arguments that were going on simultaneously around my ears. The youngest wanted to go out and ride her Christmas bicycle under the street light and the eldest, gruff-voiced and greasy-handed from his struggles with his old car, wanted to ride out with a friend for a hotdog at a drive-in.

Muv was opposed to both propositions. Little girls, she contended, had no business loitering around on the street after dark and where on earth would a teen-age boy put a hotdog 20 minutes after he had eaten supper?

"Good morning, my dear Alberto Lopez," thundered our little Spanish student from the floor. "The gentleman spoke to his green friend very pleased."

"Spoke to his green friend very pleased?" Muv repeated.

"Well, I say . . . spoke to his green friend very pleased!"

She returned her attention to the other two. A trip to the corner drug store by bicycle would be allowed if it lasted no more than 15 minutes. She would time the cyclist not by the capricious old living room clock but by her own shiny little alarm clock. She held the clock in her hands and watched out the window as the youngest sped away. Meanwhile, the eldest slipped out the side door and roared off to the drive-in.

I turned my back to the fire and pondered the enigma of the green Spaniard. The opening of the front door let in a chill breath of night air and a friend.

"I've come to sit with you and do a bit of sewing," she announced virtuously. "I've got to take up this hem for Sissy."

Muv looked pleased. This was more like normalcy. A friend with a bit of needlework in her hand came to call.

"I wonder if you have any brown thread?" the friend asked, unrolling a brown skirt. "If you haven't it's all right. I can fix it with this navy blue."

"You can?" Muv was shocked.

"Yes, but I hope you've got a needle," said my friend. "And scissors . . . can you all find your scissors? We haven't seen ours since before Christmas."

Muv went to get the sewing things out of her personal cache, but I could tell she was shaken. Now she thinks our friends are as disorganized and bobbling as we are—and that must be a very bad state of affairs indeed.

Junior Woman's Club To Hear Dr. Burns

Dr. Robert Burns will discuss "The Art of Staying Married" at the meeting of the Junior Atlanta Woman's Club Monday evening, Jan. 9, at the Atlanta Woman's Club on Peachtree street. Mrs. John S. Billings will preside.

Annie Lou Hardy Sanfords To Move To New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sanford have just returned from New Haven, Conn., where they spent several days house-hunting in preparation for establishing residence there.

The Sanfords and their three small daughters, Linda, Kathy and Cindy, plan to leave around March 1. Mr. Sanford will enter business in Connecticut.

The move is rather like a home-coming for Mrs. Sanford, for she is a native of that section, having been Nancy Bradley of Pelhams, N.Y., before her marriage to the Atlantan.

MR. AND MRS. FELIX DE GOLIAN JR. and their children, Robert, Angelique, William and Jonathan, returned Wednesday from a holiday trip that took them as far as Mexico. Leaving on Christmas Day, the family went first to Austin, Tex., for a visit to Mrs. de Golian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rathbone.

Then they motored to Monterey, Mexico, to be guests of Mrs. de Golian's sister, Mrs. M. J. Schroeder. En route home they stopped for a visit to Mr. de Golian's sister, Mrs. Ben Munson, in Denison, Tex.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHENS MITCHELL have issued invitations for cocktails on Saturday, Jan. 14. A group of their friends will call between 6 and 8 o'clock at their Habersham road home.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY CABANISS are back from New Orleans where they attended the Sugar Bowl game on Monday. During their absence, the latter's mother, Mrs. Sam Marshall of Savannah, was the guest of her young granddaughters, Elizabeth and Anne Cabaniss, at the Cabaniss home on Fifteenth street.

PHILADELPHIA'S FAMED CHARITY BALL, given annually by that city's debutantes at the Barclay Hotel, was the highlight of a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jenkins of Wynnewood made by Gordon S. Carrigan III, who is just back from Philadelphia. He escorted Miss Judith Jenkins to the ball.

HAMP WHITTLE has returned to Gordon Military College after spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Ann Lowther Whittle on Alpine road.

ALAN BILLINGS who came from Carnegie Tech to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Billings of 555 Terrace Ave., has returned to Pittsburgh where he is studying for his master's degree and is also serving as instructor. While here he worked with the Southern Ballet, which will feature his sets and costumes in two of its productions, "Juliet of the Hills" and "The Dogwood Legend," to be presented on Friday and Saturday evenings of next week.

A GUEST at the Tuxedo road home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Thomas is Miss Sue Groover who has just returned after two years of study at the University of Heidelberg, Germany.

Quite a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas was the arrival from Germany of their son, Chaplain David N. Thomas, to spend the holidays. He leaves tomorrow to return to Mannheim where he has been on Army duty for the past year. Chaplain Thomas will be released from the service in August, and he plans to resume his studies at Emory in September.

VISITORS ARRIVING today to attend the marriage of Miss Dixie Brandt to Guerry Barton, which takes place tomorrow afternoon at the Cathedral of Christ the King are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Granger Jr., Mrs. Harvey Granger Sr. and Mrs. J. J. Rauters of Savannah.

AFTER A SIX-MONTH RESIDENCE in Angola, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bahin returned to their home in College Park just in time for a holiday reunion of their family. Their son Frank has now resumed his studies at Duke University, and another son, Tom, has returned to his classes at the University of Georgia.

Lt. and Mrs. L. J. Bahin Jr., who also joined the family party, are now in New York where on Monday they will board a plane to fly to Augsburg, Germany, for a three-year tour of duty. Lt. Bahin is Signal Supply officer for the 11th Airborne Division of the U.S. Army.

Take Guesswork Out of Reducing

By IDA JEAN KAIN
On the basis of calorie subtraction, it is possible to predict the approximate date at which you can expect to be down to healthy normal weight. Calorie science really has taken the guess work out of reducing. However, the week-to-week rate of reducing is an individual matter and depends on whether you tend to store water in the tissuess or release the surplus water at the beginning of the diet. Being alert to water "swings" can keep you from becoming discouraged.

As a rule, the more overweight you are, the more you can expect to lose at the start of a diet. If you have considerable soft fat, there is likely to be more surplus water in the tissues and you will lose very fast in the beginning. However, do not expect to continue losing at this rapid rate or you will become discouraged when the pace slackens, as with the reducer in this letter...

Miss Jenkins To Be Wed In September

Mrs. Mirrice E. Jenkins of Scottsdale announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Shirley Ruth Jenkins, to Charles Warren Bergmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Bergmann of New York, N.Y.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Avondale High School. She is now employed by Armour Fertilizer Works in Atlanta.

Mr. Bergmann, a graduate of New York University's Washington Square College of Arts and Sciences and of the Graduate School of Business Administration, is associated with Western Union Telegraph Co. in New York.

The couple is planning a September wedding.

POUND A DAY

"The first 11 days of my diet I lost a pound a day. Now I just can't seem to lose any more, even though I am on the same diet. I am very much discouraged. What is the reason for this, and what can I do to lose now?"

Here's the reason. Your initial rapid loss was due to the fact that considerable water was released along with the fat. Once the water balance is adjusted, you will lose at the rate established by the calorie deficit. Know that this standstill period is temporary. Continue your diet, eat a complete protein food at every meal and you will presently start to reduce at the rate of one or two pounds a week. From now on the loss will all be in body fat.

STUBBORN PERIOD

Now for those of you who have failed to lose. Hold on! While you may not show any weight loss for another week, this stubborn period will be followed by a rapid loss, and the end result will coincide with the estimated date. You'll catch up with the fast starters.

You can even appear to gain on a reducing diet! This paradoxical behavior on a diet is due to the fact that stored water weighs more than the fat it has replaced. If you are cutting calories, you are losing weight, regardless of the pointer on the scales. Stay with the diet... and one morning soon, you'll find yourself many pounds lighter.

HOW DOES YOUR CHILD COMPARE?

Is it normal for a nine-year-old to be ashamed of his family and home... for a three-year-old to bite his parents when angry... for a one-year-old to tremble without apparent cause? In the current issue of Coronet Magazine, a child psychologist reveals that the only way to determine normal behavior is to compare it with the average behavior of others the same age. January Coronet presents a guide by which parents may recognize behavior that is dangerously out of the ordinary. January Coronet presents a "yardstick of conduct" agreed upon by experts. CLOROX-clean linens are extra fresh and clean...

CLOROX makes linens

Yes, Clorox always gives you a cleaner wash that smells cleaner, too... rain or shine! Clorox makes white cottons and linens whiter, fast colors brighter... removes dinginess, stains, scorch and mildew. And remember, too, no other home laundering product equals Clorox in germ-killing efficiency!

Use Clorox with confidence for laundering your finest cottons and guest linens... for Clorox is extra gentle. Made by an exclusive patented formula, it's free from caustic. Also Clorox, a liquid, contains no gritty particles to damage your wash, washer or dryer.

A CLOROX-clean house is a pleasure

When you use Clorox in routine house cleaning, you make your home a pleasanter, safer place for your family. For, while Clorox is getting rid of stains and unpleasant odors, it helps get rid of germs. Read the label for directions on a wealth of ways Clorox saves time and work for housewives every day.

You get all these benefits in a Clorox-clean wash!

1. Snowy-white linens... Clorox removes gray and yellow dinginess.
2. Bright fast colors... Clorox removes dulling film.
3. Lovely-looking linens... Clorox removes ugly stains, even scorch and mildew.
4. Fresh, clean-smelling linens... Clorox deodorizes.
5. Sanitary linens... Clorox is the most efficient germ-killer of its kind.

When it's CLOROX-clean... it's SAFER for family health!

'Jeep' Dispatcher

Model DJ3A Soft top. Dispatcher with durable canvas top. Zippered rear window provides easy access to cargo area.

Here's the vehicle that brings you new savings on deliveries—the 2-Wheel-Drive 'Jeep' Dispatcher. Its maneuverability saves time in crowded traffic. With its ideal weight-to-power ratio, the 'Jeep' Dispatcher saves fuel in stop-and-go driving as well as on the open highway. Its rugged dependability assures low-cost maintenance.

Model DJ3A Basic prices start as low as $1404⁵⁷

Saves you time and money on every delivery!

- Delivers More Miles per Gallon. The 'Jeep' Dispatcher is designed for top fuel economy. It saves gas in stop-and-go driving, and delivers many extra miles per gallon.
- Extra Maneuverability. The Dispatcher parks easily in spots too small for other vehicles. It slips through 5-foot openings in traffic, turns in an 18-foot radius.
- Easy Maintenance. Every working part is within easy reach for quick maintenance and repair. Open skirted fenders leave the entire wheel mounting readily accessible.
- Functional Design. Saves money by eliminating "limousine" trim—leaves fewer surfaces to get bumped and dented—requires less upkeep or replacement.

ALL-ROUND GOOD DISH FOR 1956, FEATURES EITHER BEEF, PORK OR CHICKEN WITH VEAL IN DELICIOUS CHOW MEIN
Serve With Rice and Chow Mein Noodles and Pass a Bowl of Pineapple and Kumquats to Complement Oriental Atmosphere

'56 Chow Mein Stars 3 Plentifuls

By JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

Take your choice for 1956—beef, pork or poultry. All are good buys.

And here's one dish that can use all three. But one at a time, please.

It's a flexible chow mein that's chock full of good things including a blend of either beef, pork and chicken and veal and flavored to perfection.

Make it ahead, if you like, for reheating while the rice cooks. Then spoon over the rice and sprinkle chow mein noodles around the edge.

For a special oriental touch, pass a bowl of pineapple chunks and kumquats on crushed ice with decorative wooden picks.

1956 CHOW MEIN

 $\frac{3}{4}$ -pound beef round steak
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 large stalks celery, cut crosswise into $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch slices
2 small onions, chopped
1 small green pepper, seeded and cut into thin strips
2 tablespoons cornstarch
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup soy sauce

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup water
1 teaspoon sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon dry mustard
1 can (about 5 ounces) water chestnuts, sliced
1 can (about 16 ounces) bean sprouts
1 can (about 5 ounces) bamboo shoots
1 can (about 3 ounces) whole mushrooms
1. Cut meats into strips about 2 inches long and $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch wide.
2. Melt butter or margarine in skillet; add meat and saute slowly until browned. 3. Add celery, onion and green pepper.

4. Cook over low heat about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. 5. Blend cornstarch with soy sauce, water, sugar and mustard; stir into mixture. 6. Add undrained water chestnuts, bean sprouts, bamboo shoots and mushrooms. 7. Cook, covered, over low heat 20 minutes, or until meats are tender. 8. Serve with rice and chow mein noodles. Makes four large servings.

For chicken and veal chow mein, omit beef and add 2 cups of cooked chicken but do not brown the chicken with the veal.

For pork and veal chow mein, omit beef and add two cups of cooked pork, but do not brown with the veal.

Curry adds an unusual note to a dried beef sauce. And served over spaghetti, the flavor is sensational.

Curry likes company, so don't forget the condiments. In this case make them chopped peanuts, diced hard-cooked eggs, shredded fresh coconut and chutney.

CURRY SPAGHETTI PLATTER

6 ounces long spaghetti
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped onion
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup enriched flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon curry powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup dried beef (2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -oz. jar)
Minced parsley

1. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 12 minutes). Drain and rinse. 2. While spaghetti is cooking, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. 3. Add onion and brown lightly. 4. Stir in flour, curry powder and salt. 5. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. 6. Add dried beef. 7. Serve hot over spaghetti. Sprinkle each serving with minced parsley. Makes four servings.

And the perfect salad to go along:

VEGETABLE GARDEN SALAD

1 package garlic salad dressing mix

Vinegar, water, oil

1 cup 1-inch pieces: head or leaf lettuce

1 cup 1-inch pieces chicory

1 cup shredded white or red cabbage

1 cup shredded carrots

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup cooked peas

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped cooked string beans

2 tablespoons finely chopped green onions (optional)

1 large tomato, peeled and cut into wedges

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup mixed dressing

2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

1. Combine salad dressing mix, vinegar, water and oil as directed on the package or bottle. 2. Combine lettuce, chicory, cabbage, carrots, peas, beans, onions, tomato wedges and salt. 3. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of the mixed dressing and toss lightly. 4.

Good Things Top English Muffins

Such good things to put on toasted English muffins! Cream cheese and guava jelly for instance. Or granulated sugar mixed with cinnamon and finely chopped pecans. If you want a snack that isn't sweet, try buttering the split muffins, sprinkling with Parmesan cheese and broiling for a few seconds.

Demitasse coffee may be made with regular American roast coffee, using either the drip or vacuum method. Do not use a percolator. To prepare demitasse coffee this way use:
6 tablespoons coffee
 $\frac{1}{2}$ measuring cups water
This makes four 3-oz. demitasse servings.

COFFEE AND CHOCOLATE DOMINATE FLAVOR OF THIS CORONET DESSERT
Whipped Cream and Gelatin Form the Filling Held by Lady Fingers

Coffee Dessert Made Into a Coronet Gives Dinner Its Crowning Glory

Here is a new jewel for your culinary crown. It's a coffee coronet.

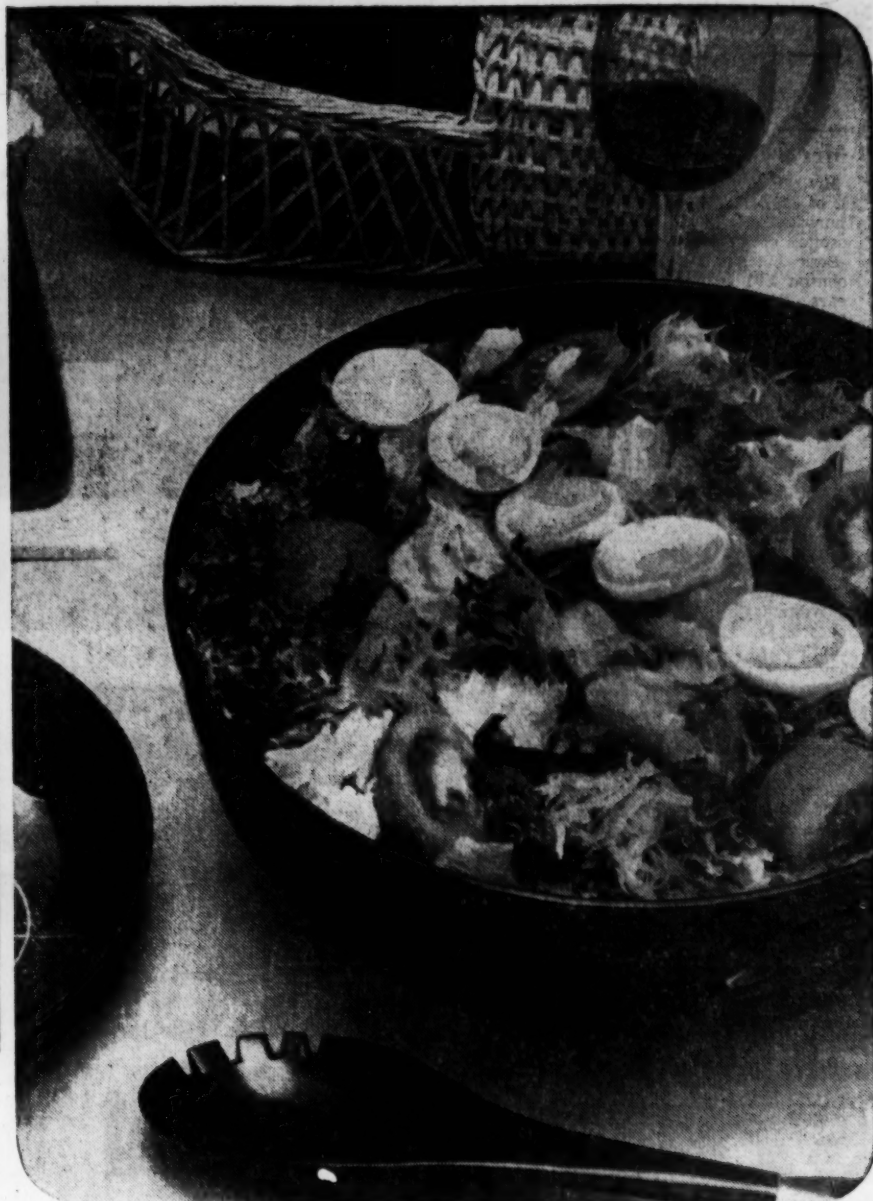

And to go with it—demitasse coffee served in the living room. A dessert like this deserves such special attention.

As its title indicates, coffee is the main ingredient in this coronet. There's coffee combined with gelatin to make the molded filling, finely ground coffee and sugar sprinkled on top as a lovely last touch.

There's suave chocolate present, a sprinkling of pecans, a touch of rum flavoring, a dash of whipped cream. A wreath of lady fingers forms the "coronet" and more lady fingers hide in the center.

COFFEE CORONET

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup strong, cold coffee
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups strong, hot coffee
1 cup sugar
1 cup broken pecans
2 dozen lady fingers (about)
 $\frac{1}{2}$ pkg. (3 ozs.) semisweet chocolate pieces, melted
2 cups heavy cream
1 tablespoon rum flavoring
1. Sprinkle gelatin on cold coffee. 2. Add hot

Lamb Makes Hearty Main Dish of Rice

Spanish rice prepared with pimiento-stuffed green olives, packaged precooked rice and canned tomato sauce, is a pantry shelf special to count on for easy-to-fix, nourishing main courses. Diced lamb is a delicious addition to Spanish rice, and you'll find this idea an excellent use for leftover lamb roast. Try these recipes soon.

OLIVE LAMB SPANISH RICE

1/4 cup salad oil
1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 1/2 cups (1 5-ounce package) packaged precooked rice
1 1/2 cups hot water
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
2 cups diced cooked lamb
1/2 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
1/2 cup grated processed American cheese

Salt and pepper to taste
1. Heat oil over low heat.
2. Add onion, green pepper and rice and cook over high heat until lightly browned, stirring frequently.
3. Add water, tomato sauce, lamb, olives and cheese; mix well.
4. Heat to boiling point. 5. Cover and cook over medium heat 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

SPANISH RICE SUPPER

1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 1/2 cups (1 5-ounce package) packaged precooked rice
1/4 cup salad oil
2 cups diced cooked lamb
1 1/2 cups hot water
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1/2 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

1. Cook onion, green pepper and rice in salad oil, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned.
2. Add lamb, water and tomato sauce; heat to boiling point. Cover; cook 10 minutes.
3. Add remaining ingredients and heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

No-Cook Rocky Road Frosting

It's the little extras, like crunchy walnuts and miniature (or quartered) marshmallows, that make this no-cooking "Rocky Road Frosting" so very special.

If you are a real chocolate lover, you'll want to spread it on rich, dark devil's food cake. You'll find these elegant walnuts go with any kind of cake so no matter which you choose it's sure to be good tasting.

ROCKY ROAD FROSTING

1/2 cup walnuts
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons cocoa
4 tablespoons scalded milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1. Quarter marshmallows and arrange over baked cooled cake. Chop walnuts. 2. Melt butter and stir in cocoa. 3. Add hot milk and stir until mixture becomes thick. 4. Add vanilla and sugar, and stir until thick enough to spread. 5. Stir in walnuts and spread quickly over marshmallows. Covers an 8 or 9-inch square cake.

Party Hors D'Oeuvres

These hors d'oeuvres are easy to do for a crowd. Split French rolls and hollow out center. Fill with mixture of liver sausage, ripe olive wedges, mayonnaise and seasoning. Put rolls together and chill several hours. Cut into very thin slices to serve.

Keep Variety on the Spice Shelf And Good Flavor in Food for 1956

Take the new year. Sprinkle it liberally with spice. And there'll be some good eating in 1956.

Here are some members of a good spice rack that should be tried soon if they aren't already among your favorites.

Use them to suit your taste—to add flavor or to complement food's natural flavor.

APPLE PIE SPICE: This is a warm and gentle blend of spices especially for apple pies and other apple dishes and desserts. Use only a bit for the just-right, faintly-seasoned taste. Use two teaspoonsful and you'll have really spicy apple pie.

PUMPKIN PIE SPICE: Save the bother and time of measuring spice after spice for sweet-smelling pumpkin or sweet potato dishes.

SEASONING SALT: This spice seasons all foods, except fruits and sweets with a savor that brings out the finest flavor of each individual dish. It goes well with cheese, eggs, fish, fowl, meats, salads, sandwiches, sauces and vegetables.

BASIL: This sweet, subtle-tasting herb is a symbol of love according to tradition. It means good flavor, too. In fact it is the real secret of delicious Italian, Spanish and Portuguese cooking.

ROSEMARY: Rosemary is a popular choice with lamb but is excellent with pork, veal, wild game and fowl. Try it in fruit cups or fruit beverages. Season vegetable dishes of peas, potatoes, turnips, cauliflower, and especially broiled or sautéed mushrooms. It's extra good in chicken or turtle soups.

SEAFOOD SPICE: This makes your seafood a dish of distinction. Try it in broiled, steamed or poached seafood; in cocktail and creole sauces; in oyster dressing, hot spanish sauces, marinades for meats and game and in barbecue and pickling sauces.

SESAME SEED: This tiny spice is one of the most concentrated sources of protein, is rich in vitamins and can be substituted in any recipe calling for nutmeats.

Toast them and use on cakes, brown betty, waldorf salad, broiled grapefruit, in butter sauce, chicken almond, onion pie, cheese balls, canapes, tea sandwiches and sundaes.

Use them in place of bread crumbs on casseroles, macaroni, escalloped potatoes, etc.

CARDAMON EXTRACT: Spanish cookery frequently calls for this spice. But cardamon seeds have been particularly prominent as an ingredient in Scandinavian cakes and cookies.

Cardamon extract is now used in coffee cakes, Danish pastry, cookies, cakes, sweet dough breads and buns.

Ham and Sour Cream Combo

The cheese and sour cream gravy served on these ham patties gives them an unusual and delicious flavor.

It's a dish which we think the whole family will like.

HAM IN SOUR CREAM
1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon butter
4 cups ground, cooked ham
1 egg, slightly beaten

1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons drippings
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup grated cheese
1. Sauté onion in butter for 5 minutes. 2. Add to ham, with egg and pepper. Mix well. 3. Shape into six patties. Brown patties on both sides in hot drippings. 4. Remove from pan and place on a heated platter. 5. Stir flour into drippings. Add water, cream, and cheese. 6. Cook, stirring constantly, until blended and heated through. Serve over patties.

KNOW WHAT'S GOOD... morning, noon or night? VERNONT MAID Syrup, of course... poured generously over pancakes for breakfast, as a golden crown on French toast at lunch and as a taste-enticing topping on waffles for supper! One taste will tell you that no other syrup is just-as-good... for anybody who likes syrup just naturally prefers Vermont Maid. That's because it's got that real mm-maple-sugar flavor... in fact, it's so utterly delicious, it's the best-selling syrup in New England's maple-sugar country. So get the big 24-ounce family-size two-handled jug of Vermont Maid when you shop today... and feature it on your week-end menus. You'll be glad you did... because it will go fast!

BE CERTAIN-SURE you have plenty of KRAFT Deluxe Slices Pasteurized Process American Cheese and Miracle Whip Salad Dressing... for I know you'll want to try the two recipes below which were featured on the Kraft TV Theatre this week:

• BROILED CHEESE AND APPLESAUCE SANDWICHES • For each sandwich spread a slice of white toast, crusts trimmed, with applesauce, cover it with a Kraft Deluxe Slice Pasteurized Process American Cheese and a slice of partially broiled bacon. Place the sandwiches under broiler heat or in a 350° oven until the cheese is melted and the bacon is crisp. Serve hot.

• PEAR WALDORF SALAD • Cover 3 cups diced peeled pears with 1 cup orange juice and let stand a few minutes. Drain and combine with 1 cup diced celery and 1/2 cup chopped English walnuts. Add just enough Miracle Whip Salad Dressing to moisten. Place on lettuce on individual salad plates. Press unpeeled pear section, skin side out, into each mound of salad. Garnish with watercress.

Such a joy to eat! Such praise from your family—for these even slices of choice potatoes are cooked in purest vegetable shortening to crunchy outer crispness, inner tenderness. Each 9 oz. package serves 3 or 4. You will also enjoy Stokely's Finest Potato Patties and Diced Potatoes.

HOT CHOCOLATE
Vanilla Flavored

Vanilla Flavored Chocolate

When frosty weather turns your thoughts to hot chocolate this winter, try this trick: Stir in a little pure vanilla extract. It is the secret of better chocolate flavor.

Chocolate and vanilla should be steady companions. Whenever you are making a cup of hot chocolate, get out your bottle of pure vanilla extract. A teaspoon is the right amount for enough chocolate for six servings. You'll find that the drink is much richer tasting—yet without any added calories!

The use of vanilla and chocolate together should not be limited to hot chocolate. Vanilla will add the same richness to any other dish which calls for chocolate.

VANILLA HOT CHOCOLATE

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup sugar
1/16 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup hot water
3 cups milk, scalded
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
Vanilla whipped cream (optional)

1. Melt chocolate in top part of double boiler. 2. Add sugar, salt and water. Mix well. 3. Bring to boiling point over direct medium heat, stirring constantly. Add hot milk. Heat thoroughly. 4. Remove from heat and stir in pure vanilla extract. Serve in warm mugs or coffee cups. 5. Top with vanilla whipped cream, if desired. Makes six servings.

Vanilla Whipped Cream: Beat 1/2 cup heavy cream until almost stiff. Add 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Beat only until stiff. Eight servings.

SOFT VANILLA-CHOCOLATE COOKIES

1 cup shortening
2 cups light brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 eggs
1 cup sour milk
2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup chopped nuts

1. Cream shortening and brown sugar together. 2. Blend in salt, soda and pure vanilla extract. 3. Add chocolate and mix well. Beat in eggs. Add flour alternately with sour milk. Stir in nuts. 4. Chill dough 1 or more hours. 5. Drop from tablespoon onto lightly greased cookie sheets. 6. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 15 to 18 minutes or until lightly browned around the edges. 7. Cool and store in a tightly closed container. Makes 30 three-inch cookies.

Baked Eggs Are Easy, Nutritious

Like baked eggs? They're easy to prepare, and nutritious.

Just butter a custard cup and then break an egg into the cup. Pour a tablespoon of cream over the egg and set the cup in a pan of hot water. Bake the egg in a moderate oven until it is firm—about 20 minutes or longer.

Sprinkle with salt and paprika and serve. Tiny crisp buttered croutons may also be sprinkled on top of the egg.

Pineapple Chutney Fills Party Pastries

A generous quantity of golden pineapple, raisins, ginger and green pepper combine perfectly with slivered almonds to make the rich filling for Pineapple Chutney Tarts. They taste irresistibly good with a fruit punch. Here is the recipe for the

Pineapple Chutney:

PINEAPPLE CHUTNEY
1 No. 2 1/2 can of sliced pineapple
1 cup vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 small clove garlic chopped fine.

1/2 cup slivered blanched almonds
1/2 cups seedless raisins
1/2 green pepper chopped fine
2 tablespoons finely chopped crystallized ginger
1. Cut sliced pineapple in 1/4-inch pieces. 2. Add vinegar, brown sugar, and salt, and cook slowly for 20 to 30 minutes. 3. Stir in remaining ingredients and continue cooking over low heat until thickened. 4. Stir occasionally to prevent scorching. Makes about 2 pints. Fill baked tart shells with hot Pineapple Chutney, and pineapple tidbits.

Wine-Soaked Prunes Good With Wild Game

Plump cooked prunes which have been soaked in red wine are a delicious accompaniment to wild goose or duck. Soak the prunes in Burgundy or Claret for several hours. Wine makes a good marinade for all wild game.

summer evenings at the back yard barbecues—how much fun it will be with the new grill and the camp chairs I'll get with Top Value Stamps.

I dream of getting that wagon for Jackie and that doll for Mary—there are so many things for the children in the Top Value Catalog.

The Worry Clinic

By
DR. GEORGE
W. CRANE

Russia Laid Plans As Far Back as '24

Rev. Philip Lee, 45, is the Chinese pastor of the Community Christian Church in Chicago's Chinatown.

His father was a Christian minister in China where Philip Lee formerly conducted a series of radio broadcasts over several Chinese stations prior to Pearl Harbor.

He had come to America to lecture and sing as a means of raising money to expand the radio work in China, when the World War II prevented his return.

While marooned in America, he first accepted a large pulpit in Los Angeles and remained at that church for several years.

Then the Chinese Christians in Chicago needed a live wire to "sparkplug" the completion of their Community Christian Church, so they invited him to be their pastor.

Mrs. Crane and I have known Philip Lee and his wife for 15 years. Recently, my Bible class at the Chicago Temple invited him to give us a program of music and pictures which he had taken on his recent visit to his mother in Hong Kong.

RUSSIAN STRATEGY

"When I was a high school student in Canton in 1924," Philip Lee told us, "the Russians showed their farsighted planning for they lured thousands of Chinese teen-agers to Russia to study."

"They offered scholarships with all expenses paid, including transportation. And many of my high school classmates left for Russia, where they were thoroughly indoctrinated in communism."

"Most of them I have never seen since 1924. But I notice with great interest that this names appear on the roster of Chinese Communist delegations to the United Nations and other international assemblies."

"So Russia was laying the groundwork back in 1924 for what is going on at the present time."

"It proves that Russia planned far ahead and recognized the vital necessity of indoctrinating the youth of other nations whom she wanted to dominate."

OPPORTUNITIES

Then Philip Lee gave us some other challenging ideas of value to all Americans.

"Here in Chicago we have 5,000 Chinese," he continued, "yet most of the churches ignore them and concentrate on missionary activity far afield."

"In our little church in Chinatown we are now operating a school bus and picking up 150 Chinese youngsters of nursery school age each day. They may not understand any English at all."

"So Mrs. Lee and a corps of generous women operate this nursery school for such toddlers from three to five. They teach them English so they will be able to enter the Chicago kindergartens at the age of five and understand their teachers as well as their American classmates."

"And we employ Bible stories for examples in our teaching of English. Thus, we attract both children and parents to church by this enterprising wedge."

"If Christianity is to defeat

atheistic communism, we must certainly be as farsighted as the Communist leaders and start with the children."

"Unfortunately, we are hampered for lack of funds, for our Chinese Christian Church is not an actual member of a Baptist or Methodist or Congregational conference, so they tend to forget our needs, though they originally sponsored the building of our Chinese church."

"Unfortunately, we are hampered for lack of funds, for our

Here Are Some Rules For Child Cardiac

A woman from a small town in Illinois was told her 6-year-old son had heart trouble. Her question, "What do I do now?" comes up so often I decided to give my opinion along this line.

Most physicians realize that heart disease usually is a life-long disability and will not make this diagnosis until they are sure of their ground.

If there is any question, a consultation is in order. The child need not be told until he is old enough to understand.

The parents should decide to rear the youngster like any other child so that he will never be regarded as different or burdened with a serious handicap.

It is natural for parents to overprotect and restrict the afflicted boy or girl. This is the wrong thing to do because it encourages invalidism, which may be more disabling than the heart condition.

The youngster should be given the same understanding, affection, and responsibilities as the other offspring.

There is no harm in discipline nor will crying aggravate the cardiac condition. Two sets of standards in the home create a hardship on the afflicted tyke as well as on the healthy children.

The latter resent the extra attention their cardiac sibling receives and feel cheated when they do not get their share of affection. The parents should obtain authoritative knowledge of heart disease in general and the youngster's type in particular.

Sudden death is not the rule; consequently, there is no need to be critical of every move the little fellow makes.

Inactivity does not make the cardiac live longer. Each child must learn his limitations and stop when he becomes tired or short of breath.

Explaining the situation to the youngster and letting him take the initiative is better than pleading, nagging, and a constant "don't do this" or "don't do that."

As the boy grows older, parents may be forced to put their foot down on competitive sports. They are strenuous and the cardiac may push himself beyond the point of fatigue.

The school will help in this respect because it does not allow a student with congenital or rheumatic heart disease to compete along this line.

Children with heart disease must be schooled in the rules of good hygiene. They should be immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, and smallpox.

A respiratory infection, especially a strep throat, may lead to rheumatic fever with additional damage to the heart. Hence it is necessary to guard against colds and call the family physician at the first sign.

Russia Laid Plans As Far Back as '24

Rev. Philip Lee, 45, is the Chinese pastor of the Community Christian Church in Chicago's Chinatown.

His father was a Christian minister in China where Philip Lee formerly conducted a series of radio broadcasts over several Chinese stations prior to Pearl Harbor.

He had come to America to lecture and sing as a means of raising money to expand the radio work in China, when the World War II prevented his return.

While marooned in America, he first accepted a large pulpit in Los Angeles and remained at that church for several years.

Then the Chinese Christians in Chicago needed a live wire to "sparkplug" the completion of their Community Christian Church, so they invited him to be their pastor.

Mrs. Crane and I have known Philip Lee and his wife for 15 years. Recently, my Bible class at the Chicago Temple invited him to give us a program of music and pictures which he had taken on his recent visit to his mother in Hong Kong.

RUSSIAN STRATEGY

"When I was a high school student in Canton in 1924," Philip Lee told us, "the Russians showed their farsighted planning. For they lured thousands of Chinese teen-agers to Russia to study."

"They offered scholarships with all expenses paid, including transportation. And many of my high school classmates left for Russia, where they were thoroughly indoctrinated in communism."

"Most of them I have never seen since 1924. But I notice with great interest that this names appear on the roster of Chinese Communist delegations to the United Nations and other international assemblies."

"So Russia was laying the groundwork back in 1924 for what is going on at the present time."

"It proves that Russia planned far ahead and recognized the vital necessity of indoctrinating the youth of other nations whom she wanted to dominate."

OPPORTUNITIES

Then Philip Lee gave us some other challenging ideas of value to all Americans.

"Here in Chicago we have 5,000 Chinese," he continued, "yet most of the churches ignore them and concentrate on missionary activity far afield."

"In our little church in Chinatown we are now operating a school bus and picking up 150 Chinese youngsters of nursery school age each day. They may not understand any English at all."

"So Mrs. Lee and a corps of generous women operate this nursery school for such toddlers from three to five. They teach them English so they will be able to enter the Chicago kindergartens at the age of five and understand their teachers as well as their American classmates."

"And we employ Bible stories for examples in our teaching of English. Thus, we attract both children and parents to church by this entering wedge."

"If Christianity is to defeat

Atlantan Denied Retrial in Attack

Fulton Superior Judge E. E. Andrews denied Thursday the extraordinary motion for new trial filed by an Atlanta Negro under death sentence on a conviction of raping a white woman.

Attorneys for the Negro, Frederick Mosley, 25, indicated they would appeal the judge's ruling to the Georgia Supreme Court and to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The new trial motion contended that a woman who identified Mosley as the person who attacked her had previously identified another man positively as her attacker. The motion also charged the state withheld evidence in the case.

Senate Speeding Its Streamlining

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The Georgia Senate isn't going to wait until next year to streamline its procedures. It is going to reorganize itself next week—in what amounts to "midseason" of the two-year legislative term.

The House and Senate both organized into committees last January when all members took their seats for their new terms. These legislators will continue in office through 1956. Customarily the committee organization continues intact for the duration of the two-year terms.

At the close of the first annual session, the Senate and House put committees to work mapping plans for reorganizations. Both branches wanted to reduce the number of committees and slash the number of committee assignments of the members. Both wanted to make other changes to reduce confusion.

WANT ACTION NOW
Now, House and Senate rules committees are ready with reorganization plans.

House leaders believe their plans will be adopted soon, to be effective in January, 1957.

Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver Jr. reports that Senate leaders want to put the Senate's reorganization plan into effect immediately. So, the first few days of the 1956 Senate session will be devoted to re-assigning members to committees.

FEWER COMMITTEES

The individual senator will be less confused over his committee work, under the proposed new plan. Instead of running pell-mell trying to attend meetings of a dozen committees, the senator will be able to participate in deliberate considerations of three or four committees.

The Senate rules committee will recommend that the number of committees be reduced from the present 38 to 17. It also will urge that no senator be assigned to more than three or four committees. These recommendations are expected to be adopted.

Senators and representatives have found it impossible to attend all the meetings of all the committees to which they are assigned. They have regarded appointment to some of the committees more as honors than as jobs to be performed. Under the new setup, the senators would have time to attend all committee sessions, and all committees would have time to carefully consider the bills before them.

2-Part Appropriations

Gov. Griffin and State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. are working on an appropriations bill to submit to the General Assembly. This won't be presented to the House before the governor delivers his budget message address—expected a week from Tuesday.

It wouldn't be surprising to see the Legislature again pass a two-sectioned appropriation bill. One section would be known as the "regular" section, and would include items which the Legislature thinks can be financed. The other would be known as the "contingent" section, and would include items which the Legislature would like financed if state revenue runs higher than anticipated.

That is the way the General Assembly has been writing its appropriation bills in recent years. Since school requests are running higher than anticipated revenue, the Legislature probably would follow the same procedure of writing some of the school allocations into a "contingent" budget.

Delegation To Protest Closing Auto School

Sen. Russell said Thursday night he and other members of the Georgia delegation will meet with Army officials Friday morning in an effort to retain the General Depot's Ordnance Automotive School.

Currie had earlier in the day sent wires to Sen. Russell, Sen. George and Congressman J. J. Flynt asking them to "do everything possible to retain the school at the General Depot of Forest Park."

The Army Wednesday announced it planned to close the school, effective on or before June 30. Approximately 174 civilian employees, 19 officers and 117 enlisted men would be affected.

An Atlanta Chamber of Commerce official Thursday said his group will request an investigation of the Army's plan. Frank Shaw, manager of the Chamber's industrial department, said, "We know the school has been doing a good job."
